[1]In addition to the employment and payroll reported for operating manufacturing establishments, manufacturing concerns ordinarily reported separately for central administrative offices or auxiliary units (e.g., research laboratories, storage warehouses, power plants, garages, repair shops, etc.) which service the manufacturing establishments of a company. A separate report was usually obtained for each central office or auxiliary unit if it was located at a different location from the manufacturing establishment(s) served or if it serviced 2 or more manufacturing establishments and was not operated as an integral part of the establishment at the same location. Employment and payroll of central administrative offices and auxiliaries are included in the totals for the State.

[2]The Fall River Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Fall River City and Somerset, Swansea, and Westport Towns in Bristol County, Massachusetts; and Tiverton Town in Newport County, Rhode Island.

[3]The Providence Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Central Falls, Cranston, Pawtucket, Providence, and Woonsocket Cities and Burrillville, Cumberland, East Providence, Johnston, Lincoln, North Providence, North Smithfield, and Smithfield Towns in Providence County; Narragansett and North Kingstown Towns in Washington County; Warwick City, and Coventry, East Greenwich and West Warwick Towns in Kent County, Jamestown Town in Newport County; and all of Bristol County, Rhode Island; Attleboro City, and North Attleboro and Seekonk Towns in Bristol County; Bellingham, Franklin, Plainville, and Wrentham Towns in Norfolk County; and Blackstone and Millville Towns in Worcester County, Massachusetts.

[4]Comparable data for 1954 are not available due to a revision in the definition of the Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area. See the 1954 Census of Manufactures Area Statistics, Volume III, for statistics for the areas as defined at that time.

[1]Employment and payroll totals for the central administrative offices and auxiliaries are not included in the statistics shown in tables 2-7 of this report.

[2]For the period 1956-1958, value added by manufacture represents adjusted value added and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting the cost of materials, supplies and containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from the value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, the difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) the net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year.

[3]The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for the period 1939-1957, but are included for 1929 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census and the Annual Survey figures include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1947-1958 was 1 employee, for 1921-1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[4]The data for operating manufacturing establishments for 1955-1957 are estimates derived from a representative sample of manufacturing establishments canvassed in the Annual Survey of Manufactures. These estimates, consequently, may differ from the results that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The sampling variability of these estimates is published in the Annual Survey of Manufactures Volume for the respective periods.

[5]See footnotes to table 1 for definitions of the standard metropolitan statistical areas. Comparable data for years prior to 1958 are not available due to a revision in the definition of the Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area. See the 1955-1957 Annual Survey of Manufactures and the 1954 Census of Manufactures Area Volume for statistics based on the area definition previously used.

*The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Classification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industries and industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate industry group lines and the "All industries, total."

[2]The total value of shipments figures for industry groups and a few individual industries have not been published due to the extensive and unmeasurable duplication arising from shipments from 1 establishment to another in the same industry classification. (See Introduction.)

[3]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[4]The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[5]Comparable data for selected industry groups are not available due to the adoption of the revised Standard Industrial Classification for 1958. For a complete description of these revisions, see Appendix A. However, selected 1954 figures have been retabulated to make them comparable to the 1958 data and are shown in the following table:

1958 SIC code	1958		1954

[6]Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in Major Industry Group 19, "Ordnance and Accessories." Establishments which are Government-owned and operated are not included.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1] In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate major industry group (2-digit) lines and the "All Industries, total."

[2] Comparable data for 1954 are not available due to a revision in the definition of the standard metropolitan statistical area. See the 1954 Census of Manufactures Area Statistics, Volume III, for statistics for the area as previously defined.

[3] Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in Major Industry Group 19, "Ordnance and Accessories." Establishments which are Government-owned and operated are not included.

[1]In addition to the employment and payroll reported for operating manufacturing establishments, manufacturing concerns ordinarily reported separately for central administrative offices or auxiliary units (e.g., research laboratories, storage warehouses, power plants, garages, repair shops, etc.) which service the manufacturing establishments of a company. A separate report was usually obtained for each central office or auxiliary unit if it was located at a different location from the manufacturing establishment(s) served or if it serviced 2 or more manufacturing establishments and was not operated as an integral part of the establishment at the same location. Employment and payroll of central administrative offices and auxiliaries are included in the totals for the State.

[2]The Augusta Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Richmond County, Georgia and Aiken County, South Carolina.

[3]The Charleston Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area is coextensive with Charleston County, South Carolina.

[4]The Columbia Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Lexington and Richland Counties, South Carolina.

[5]The Greenville Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area is coextensive with Greenville County, South Carolina.

NA Not available. [r]Revised.

[1]Employment and payroll totals for the central administrative offices and auxiliaries are not included in the statistics shown in tables 2-7 of this report.

[2]For the period 1956-1958, value added by manufacture represents adjusted value added and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting the cost of materials, supplies and containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from the value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, the difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) the net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year.

[3]The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for the period 1939-1957, but are included for 1929 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census and the Annual Survey figures include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1947-1958 was 1 employee, for 1921-1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[4]The data for operating manufacturing establishments for 1955-1957 are estimates derived from a representative sample of manufacturing establishments canvassed in the Annual Survey of Manufactures. These estimates, consequently, may differ from the results that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The sampling variability of these estimates is published in the Annual Survey of Manufactures Volume for the respective periods.

*The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Classification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industries and industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate industry group lines and the "All industries, total."

[2]The total value of shipments figures for industry groups and a few individual industries have not been published due to the extensive and unmeasurable duplication arising from shipments from 1 establishment to another in the same industry classification. (See Introduction.)

[3]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[4]The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[5]Comparable data for selected industry groups are not available due to the adoption of the revised Standard Industrial Classification for 1958. For a complete description of these revisions, see Appendix A. However, selected 1954 figures have been retabulated to make them comparable to the 1958 data and are shown in the following table:

[1]In addition to the employment and payroll reported for operating manufacturing establishments, manufacturing concerns ordinarily reported separately for central administrative offices or auxiliary units (e.g., research laboratories, storage warehouses, power plants, garages, repair shops, etc.) which service the manufacturing establishments of a company. A separate report was usually obtained for each central office or auxiliary unit if it was located at a different location from the manufacturing establishment(s) served or if it serviced 2 or more manufacturing establishments and was not operated as an integral part of the establishment at the same location. Employment and payroll of central administrative offices and auxiliaries are included in the totals for the State.

[2]The Sioux Falls Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Minnehaha County, South Dakota.

NA Not available.

S Withheld because the estimate did not meet publication standards, either on the basis of the associated standard error of estimate or on the basis of a consistency review.

[1]Employment and payroll totals for the central administrative offices and auxiliaries are not included in the statistics shown in tables 2-7 of this report.

[2]For the period 1956-1958, value added by manufacture represents adjusted value added and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting the cost of materials, supplies and containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from the value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, the difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) the net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year.

[3]The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for the period 1939-1957, but are included for 1929 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census and the Annual Survey figures include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1947-1958 was 1 employee, for 1921-1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[4]The data for operating manufacturing establishments for 1955-1957 are estimates derived from a representative sample of manufacturing establishments canvassed in the Annual Survey of Manufactures. These estimates, consequently, may differ from the results that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The sampling variability of these estimates is published in the Annual Survey of Manufactures Volume for the respective periods.

*The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Classification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industries and industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate industry group lines and the "All industries, total."

[2]The total value of shipments figures for industry groups and a few individual industries have not been published due to the extensive and unmeasurable duplication arising from shipments from 1 establishment to another in the same industry classification. (See Introduction.)

[3]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[4]The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[5]Comparable data for selected industry groups are not available due to the adoption of the revised Standard Industrial Classification for 1958. For a complete description of these revisions, see Appendix A. However, selected 1954 figures have been retabulated to make them comparable to the 1958 data and are shown in the following table:

[1]The following county-industry group lines had 500 or more employees but are not shown in the table because publication of these figures would disclose data reported by individual companies:

County	Industry group
Minnehaha	201 and 205

[2]The 1958 and 1954 county totals are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[1] In addition to the employment and payroll reported for operating manufacturing establishments, manufacturing concerns ordinarily reported separately for central administrative offices or auxiliary units (e.g., research laboratories, storage warehouses, power plants, garages, repair shops, etc.) which service the manufacturing establishments of a company. A separate report was usually obtained for each central office or auxiliary unit if it was located at a different location from the manufacturing establishment(s) served or if it serviced 2 or more manufacturing establishments and was not operated as an integral part of the establishment at the same location. Employment and payroll of central administrative offices and auxiliaries are included in the totals for the State.

[2] The Chattanooga Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and Walker County, Georgia.

[3] The Knoxville Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Anderson, Blount, and Knox Counties, Tennessee.

[4] The Memphis Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Shelby County, Tennessee.

[5] The Nashville Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Davidson County, Tennessee.

r Revised.

[1]Employment and payroll totals for the central administrative offices and auxiliaries are not included in the statistics shown in tables 2-7 of this report.

[2]For the period 1956-1958, value added by manufacture represents adjusted value added and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting the cost of materials, supplies and containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from the value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, the difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) the net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year.

[3]The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for the period 1939-1957, but are included for 1929 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census and the Annual Survey figures include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1947-1958 was 1 employee, for 1921-1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[4]The data for operating manufacturing establishments for 1955-1957 are estimates derived from a representative sample of manufacturing establishments canvassed in the Annual Survey of Manufactures. These estimates, consequently, may differ from the results that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The sampling variability of these estimates is published in the Annual Survey of Manufactures Volume for the respective periods.

*The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Classification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industries and industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate industry group lines and the "All industries, total."

[2]The total value of shipments figures for industry groups and a few individual industries have not been published due to the extensive and unmeasurable duplication arising from shipments from 1 establishment to another in the same industry classification. (See Introduction.)

[3]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[4]The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[5]Comparable data for selected industry groups are not available due to the adoption of the revised Standard Industrial Classification for 1958. For a complete description of these revisions, see Appendix A. However, selected 1954 figures have been retabulated to make them comparable to the 1958 data and are shown in the following table:

1958 SIC code	1958		1954
	Employment, total	Value added by manufacture, adjusted ($1,000)	Employment, total	Value added by manufacture, adjusted ($1,000)

[6]Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in Major Industry Group 19, "Ordnance and Accessories." Establishments which are Government-owned and operated are not included.

*The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Classification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1] In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate major industry group (2-digit) lines and the "All industries, total."

[2] The 1957 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[3] The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with the figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[4] Includes privately owned and operated establishments classified in Major Industry Group 19, "Ordnance and Accessories." Establishments which are Government-owned and operated are not included.

[1]In addition to the employment and payroll reported for operating manufacturing establishments, manufacturing concerns ordinarily reported separately for central administrative offices or auxiliary units (e.g., research laboratories, storage warehouses, power plants, garages, repair shops, etc.) which service the manufacturing establishments of a company. A separate report was usually obtained for each central office or auxiliary unit if it was located at a different location from the manufacturing establishment(s) served or if it serviced 2 or more manufacturing establishments and was not operated as an integral part of the establishment at the same location. Employment and payroll of central administrative offices and auxiliaries are included in the totals for the State.

[1]Employment and payroll totals for the central administrative offices and auxiliaries are not included in the statistics shown in tables 2-7 of this report.

[2]For the period 1956-1958, value added by manufacture represents adjusted value added and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting the cost of materials, supplies and containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from the value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, the difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) the net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year.

[3]The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for the period 1939-1957, but are included for 1929 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census and the Annual Survey figures include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1947-1958 was 1 employee, for 1921-1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[4]The data for operating manufacturing establishments for 1955-1957 are estimates derived from a representative sample of manufacturing establishments canvassed in the Annual Survey of Manufactures. These estimates, consequently, may differ from the results that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The sampling variability of these estimates is published in the Annual Survey of Manufactures Volume for the respective periods.

*The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Classification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industries and industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate industry group lines and the "All industries, total."

[2]The total value of shipments figures for industry groups and a few individual industries have not been published due to the extensive and unmeasurable duplication arising from shipments from 1 establishment to another in the same industry classification. (See Introduction.)

[3]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[5]Comparable data for selected industry groups are not available due to the adoption of the revised Standard Industrial Classification for 1958. For a complete description of these revisions, see Appendix A. However, selected 1954 figures have been retabulated to make them comparable to the 1958 data and are shown in the following table:

*The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Calssification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate major industry group (2-digit) lines and the "All industries, total."

[2]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[3]The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[r]Revised.

Table 6.–GENERAL STATISTICS FOR SELECTED COUNTIES BY INDUSTRY GROUP: 1958 AND 1954

(Separate industry group data are shown for all industry groups with 500 or more employees within a county except those that would disclose figures for individual companies. For explanation of column captions see Introduction)

[1]In addition to the employment and payroll reported for operating manufacturing establishments, manufacturing concerns ordinarily reported separately for central administrative offices or auxiliary units (e.g., research laboratories, storage warehouses, power plants, garages, repair shops, etc.) which service the manufacturing establishments of a company. A separate report was usually obtained for each central office or auxiliary unit if it was located at a different location from the manufacturing establishment(s) served or if it serviced 2 or more manufacturing establishments and was not operated as an integral part of the establishment at the same location. Employment and payroll of central administrative offices and auxiliaries are included in the totals for the State.

[2]The Ogden Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Weber County, Utah.

[3]The Salt Lake City Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Salt Lake County, Utah.

[1]Employment and payroll totals for the central administrative offices and auxiliaries are not included in the statistics shown in tables 2-7 of this report.

[2]For the period 1956-1958, value added by manufacture represents adjusted value added and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting the cost of materials, supplies and containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from the value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, the difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) the net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year.

[3]The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for the period 1939-1957, but are included for 1929 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census and the Annual Survey figures include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1947-1958 was 1 employee, for 1921-1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[4]The data for operating manufacturing establishments for 1955-1957 are estimates derived from a representative sample of manufacturing establishments canvassed in the Annual Survey of Manufactures. These estimates, consequently, may differ from the results that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The sampling variability of these estimates are published in the Annual Survey of Manufactures Volume for the respective periods.

FOOTNOTES FOR TABLE 4

*The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Classification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industries and industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate major industry group (2-digit) lines and the "All industries, total."

[2]The total value of shipments figures for industry groups and a few individual industries have not been published due to the extensive and unmeasurable duplication arising from shipments from one establishment to another in the same industry classification. (See introduction.)

[3]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the two years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[4]The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[5]Comparable data for selected industry groups are not available due to the adoption of the revised Standard Industrial Classification for 1958. For a complete description of these revisions, see Appendix A to this report. However, selected 1954 figures have been retabulated to make them comparable to the 1958 data and are shown in the following table:

1958 SIC code	1958		1954
	Employment, total	Value added by manufacture, adjusted ($1,000)	Employment, total	Value added by manufacture, unadjusted ($1,000)

[6]Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in Major Industry Group 19, "Ordnance and Accessories." Establishments which are Government-owned and operated are not included.

Table 5.–GENERAL STATISTICS FOR STANDARD METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREAS WITH 40,000 OR MORE MANUFACTURING EMPLOYEES, BY INDUSTRY: 1958 AND 1954

(This State contained no standard metropolitan statistical area with 40,000 manufacturing employees in 1958 or 1954)

Table 6.–GENERAL STATISTICS FOR SELECTED COUNTIES BY INDUSTRY GROUP: 1958 AND 1954

(Separate industry group data are shown for all industry groups with 500 or more employees within a county except those that would disclose figures for individual companies. For explanation of column captions see Introduction)

NA Not available.

[1]The following county-industry group lines had 500 or more employees but are not shown in the table because publication of these figures would disclose data reported by individual companies:

County	Industry group
Salt Lake	23, 271, 291, 353 and 36
Utah	20 and 331
Weber	372

[2]The 1958 and 1954 county totals are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[3]Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in Major Industry Group 19, "Ordnance and Accessories." (Establishments which are Government-owned and operated are not included.)

[1]In addition to the employment and payroll reported for operating manufacturing establishments, manufacturing concerns ordinarily reported separately for central administrative offices or auxiliary units (e.g., research laboratories, storage warehouses, power plants, garages, repair shops, etc.) which service the manufacturing establishments of a company. A separate report was usually obtained for each central office or auxiliary unit if it was located at a different location from the manufacturing establishment(s) served or if it serviced 2 or more manufacturing establishments and was not operated as an integral part of the establishment at the same location. Employment and payroll of central administrative offices and auxiliaries are included in the totals for the State.

[1]Employment and payroll totals for the central administrative offices and auxiliaries are not included in the statistics shown in tables 2-7 of this report.

[2]For the period 1956-1958, value added by manufacture represents adjusted value added and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting the cost of materials, supplies and containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from the value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, the difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) the net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year.

[3]The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for the period 1939-1957, but are included for 1929 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census and the Annual Survey figures include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1947-1958 was 1 employee, for 1921-1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[4]The data for operating manufacturing establishments for 1955-1957 are estimates derived from a representative sample of manufacturing establishments canvassed in the Annual Survey of Manufactures. These estimates, consequently, may differ from the results that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The sampling variability of these estimates is published in the Annual Survey of Manufactures Volume for the respective periods.

*The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Classification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industries and industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate industry group lines and the "All industries, total."

[2]The total value of shipments figures for industry groups and a few individual industries have not been published due to the extensive and unmeasurable duplication arising from shipments from 1 establishment to another in the same industry classification. (See Introduction.)

[3]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[4]The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[5]Comparable data for selected industry groups are not available due to the adoption of the revised Standard Industrial Classification for 1958. For a complete description of these revisions, see Appendix A. However, selected 1954 figures have been retabulated to make them comparable to the 1958 data and are shown in the following table:

1958 SIC code	1958		1954
	Employment, total	Value added by manufacture, adjusted ($1,000)	Employment, total	Value added by manufacture, adjusted ($1,000)

[6]Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in Major Industry Group 19, "Ordnance and Accessories." Establishments which are Government-owned and operated are not included.

[1]In addition to the employment and payroll reported for operating manufacturing establishments, manufacturing concerns ordinarily reported separately for central administrative offices or auxiliary units (e.g., research laboratories, storage warehouses, power plants, garages, repair shops, etc.) which service the manufacturing establishments of a company. A separate report was usually obtained for each central office or auxiliary unit if it was located at a different location from the manufacturing establishment(s) served or if it serviced 2 or more manufacturing establishments and was not operated as an integral part of the establishment at the same location. Employment and payroll of central administrative offices and auxiliaries are included in the totals for the State.

[1]Employment and payroll totals for the central administrative offices and auxiliaries are not included in the statistics shown in tables 2-7 of this report.

[2]For the period 1956-1958, value added by manufacture represents adjusted value added and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting the cost of materials, supplies and containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from the value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, the difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) the net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year.

[3]The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for the period 1939-1957, but are included for 1929 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census and the Annual Survey figures include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1947-1958 was 1 employee, for 1921-1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[4]The data for operating manufacturing establishments for 1955-1957 are estimates derived from a representative sample of manufacturing establishments canvassed in the Annual Survey of Manufactures. These estimates, consequently, may differ from the results that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The sampling variability of these estimates is published in the Annual Survey of Manufactures Volume for the respective periods.

[1]The 1954 data are not strictly comparable with the figures shown for 1958 due to differences in coverage of Ready-mixed concrete establishments and Machine shops engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. For further information, see footnote 3 to table 2 and Appendix A.
[2]The 1954 and 1958 data may not be strictly comparable for some counties and cities within the State because of boundary redefinitions between the 2 census years.

*The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Classification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industries and industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate industry group lines and the "All industries, total."

[2]The total value of shipments figures for industry groups and a few individual industries have not been published due to the extensive and unmeasurable duplication arising from shipments from 1 establishment to another in the same industry classification. (See Introduction.)

[3]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[4]The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[5]Comparable data for selected industry groups are not available due to the adoption of the revised Standard Industrial Classification for 1958. For a complete description of these revisions, see Appendix A to this report. However, selected 1954 figures have been retabulated to make them comparable to the 1958 data and are shown in the following table:

Industries and industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate industry group lines and the "All industries, total."

[2] The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[3] The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[4] Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in Major Industry Group 19, "Ordnance and Accessories." Establishments which are Government-owned and operated are not included.

[1]In addition to the employment and payroll reported for operating manufacturing establishments, manufacturing concerns ordinarily reported separately for central administrative offices or auxiliary units (e.g., research laboratories, storage warehouses, power plants, garages, repair shops, etc.) which service the manufacturing establishments of a company. A separate report was usually obtained for each central office or auxiliary unit if it was located at a different location from the manufacturing establishment(s) served or if it serviced 2 or more manufacturing establishments and was not operated as an integral part of the establishment at the same location. Employment and payroll of central administrative offices and auxiliaries are included in the totals for the State.

[2]The Portland Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Clackamas, Multnomah, and Washington Counties, Oregon; and Clark County, Washington.

[3]The Seattle Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of King and Snohomish Counties, Washington.

[4]The Spokane Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Spokane County, Washington.

[5]The Tacoma Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Pierce County, Washington.

[1] Employment and payroll totals for the central administrative offices and auxiliaries are not included in the statistics shown in tables 2-7 of this report.

[2] For the period 1956-1958, value added by manufacture represents adjusted value added and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting the cost of materials, supplies and containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from the value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, the difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) the net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year.

[3] The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for the period 1939-1957, but are included for 1929 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census and the Annual Survey figures include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1947-1958 was 1 employee, for 1921-1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[4] The data for operating manufacturing establishments for 1955-1957 are estimates derived from a representative sample of manufacturing establishments canvassed in the Annual Survey of Manufactures. These estimates, consequently, may differ from the results that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The sampling variability of these estimates is published in the Annual Survey of Manufactures Volume for the respective periods.

*The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Classification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies. [r]Revised.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industries and industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate industry group lines and the "All industries, total."

[2]The total value of shipments figures for industry groups and a few individual industries have not been published due to the extensive and unmeasurable duplication arising from shipments from 1 establishment to another in the same industry classification. (See Introduction.)

[3]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[4]The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[5]Comparable data for selected industry groups are not available due to the adoption of the revised Standard Industrial Classification for 1958. For a complete description of these revisions, see Appendix A. However, selected 1954 figures have been retabulated to make them comparable to the 1958 data and are shown in the following table:

[6]Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in Major Industry Group 19, "Ordnance and Accessories." Establishments which are Government-owned and operated are not included.

[1]In addition to the employment and payroll reported for operating manufacturing establishments, manufacturing concerns ordinarily reported separately for central administrative offices or auxiliary units (e.g., research laboratories, storage warehouses, power plants, garages, repair shops, etc.) which service the manufacturing establishments of a company. A separate report was usually obtained for each central office or auxiliary unit if it was located at a different location from the manufacturing establishment(s) served or if it serviced 2 or more manufacturing establishments and was not operated as an integral part of the establishment at the same location. Employment and payroll of central administrative offices and auxiliaries are included in the totals for the State.

[2]The Charleston Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Kanawha County, West Virginia.

[3]The Huntington-Ashland Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Cabell and Wayne Counties, West Virginia; Boyd County, Kentucky; and Lawrence County, Ohio.

[4]The Steubenville-Weirton Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Jefferson County, Ohio; and Brooke and Hancock Counties, West Virginia.

[5]The Wheeling Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Ohio and Marshall Counties, West Virginia; and Belmont County, Ohio.

[1]Employment and payroll totals for the central administrative offices and auxiliaries are not included in the statistics shown in tables 2-7 of this report.

[2]For the period 1956-1958, value added by manufacture represents adjusted value added and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting the cost of materials, supplies and containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from the value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, the difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) the net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year.

[3]The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for the period 1939-1957, but are included for 1929 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census and the Annual Survey figures include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1947-1958 was 1 employee, for 1921-1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[4]The data for operating manufacturing establishments for 1955-1957 are estimates derived from a representative sample of manufacturing establishments canvassed in the Annual Survey of Manufactures. These estimates, consequently, may differ from the results that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The sampling variability of these estimates is published in the Annual Survey of Manufactures Volume for the respective periods.

[1]The 1954 data are not strictly comparable with the figures shown for 1958 due to differences in coverage of Ready-mixed concrete establishments and Machine shops engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. For further information, see footnote 3 to table 2 and Appendix A.
[2]The city statistics do not include data for Bluefield Town in Tazewell County, Virginia.
[3]The 1958 and 1954 figures may not be strictly comparable because of boundary redefinitions between the 2 Census years.

*The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Classification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industries and industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate industry group lines and the "All industries, total."

[2]The total value of shipments figures for industry groups and a few individual industries have not been published due to the extensive and unmeasurable duplication arising from shipments from 1 establishment to another in the same industry classification. (See Introduction.)

[3]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[4]The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[5]Comparable data for selected industry groups are not available due to the adoption of the revised Standard Industrial Classification for 1958. For a complete description of these revisions, see Appendix A. However, selected 1954 figures have been retabulated to make them comparable to the 1958 data and are shown in the following table:

1958 SIC code	1958		1954
	Employment, total	Value added by manufacture, adjusted ($1,000)	Employment, total	Value added by manufacture, adjusted ($1,000)

35 and 36	7 267	82 076	7 660	63 467

[6]Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in Major Industry Group 19, "Ordnance and Accessories." Establishments which are Government-owned and operated are not included.

Table 5.—GENERAL STATISTICS FOR STANDARD METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREAS WITH 40,000 OR MORE MANUFACTURING EMPLOYEES, BY INDUSTRY: 1958 AND 1954

(This State contained no standard metropolitan statistical area with 40,000 or more manufacturing employees in 1958 or 1954)

Table 6.–GENERAL STATISTICS FOR SELECTED COUNTIES BY INDUSTRY GROUP: 1958 AND 1954

(Separate industry group data are shown for all industry groups with 500 or more employees within a county except those that would disclose figures for individual companies. For explanation of column captions see Introduction)

[1]In addition to the employment and payroll reported for operating manufacturing establishments, manufacturing concerns ordinarily reported separately for central administrative offices or auxiliary units (e.g., research laboratories, storage warehouses, power plants, garages, repair shops, etc.) which service the manufacturing establishments of a company. A separate report was usually obtained for each central office or auxiliary unit if it was located at a different location from the manufacturing establishment(s) served or if it serviced 2 or more manufacturing establishments and was not operated as an integral part of the establishment at the same location. Employment and payroll of central administrative offices and auxiliaries are included in the totals for the State.

[2]The Duluth-Superior, Minnesota-Wisconsin Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of St. Louis County, Minnesota and Douglas County, Wisconsin.

[4]The Kenosha Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Kenosha County, Wisconsin.

[5]The Madison Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area consists of Dane County, Wisconsin.

[1]Employment and payroll totals for the central administrative offices and auxiliaries are not included in the statistics shown in tables 2-7 of this report.

[2]For the period 1956-1958, value added by manufacture represents adjusted value added and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting the cost of materials, supplies and containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from the value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, the difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) the net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year.

[3]The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for the period 1939-1957, but are included for 1929 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census and the Annual Survey figures include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1947-1958 was 1 employee, for 1921-1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[4]The data for operating manufacturing establishments for 1955-1957 are estimates derived from a representative sample of manufacturing establishments canvassed in the Annual Survey of Manufactures. These estimates, consequently, may differ from the results that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The sampling variability of these estimates is published in the Annual Survey of Manufactures Volume for the respective periods.

FOOTNOTES FOR TABLE 4

[r] Revised.
D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.
[1] In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industries and industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate industry group lines and the "All industries, total."
[2] The total value of shipments figures for industry groups and a few individual industries have not been published due to the extensive and unmeasurable duplication arising from shipments from 1 establishment to another in the same industry classification contained in these figures. (See Introduction.)
[3] The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)
[4] The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.
[5] Comparable data for selected industry groups are not available due to the adoption of the revised Standard Industrial Classification for 1958. For a complete description of these revisions, see Appendix A. However, selected 1954 figures have been retabulated to make them comparable to the 1958 data and are shown in the following table:

FOOTNOTES FOR TABLE 5

*The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Classification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industries and industry groups (3-digit) reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate industry group lines and the "All industries, total."

[2]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[3]The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[4]Comparable data for selected industry groups are not available due to the adoption of the revised Standard Industrial Classification for 1958. For a complete description of these revisions, see Appendix A. However, selected 1954 figures have been retabulated to make them comparable to the 1958 data and are shown in the following table:

1958 SIC code	1958		1954
	Employment, total	Value added by manufacture, adjusted ($1,000)	Employment, total	Value added by manufacture, adjusted ($1,000)
32 except 3273	1,337	16,075	1,408	10,953
327 except 3273	732	8,830	821	7,506
35 and 36	70,447	682,986	74,980	616,624

[5]Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in Major Industry Group 19, "Ordnance and Accessories." Establishments which are Government-owned and operated are not included.

Table 6.–GENERAL STATISTICS FOR SELECTED COUNTIES BY INDUSTRY GROUP: 1958 AND 1954

(Separate industry group data are shown for all industry groups with 500 or more employees within a county except those that would disclose figures for individual companies. For explanation of column captions see Introduction)

[1]In addition to the employment and payroll reported for operating manufacturing establishments, manufacturing concerns ordinarily reported separately for central administrative offices or auxiliary units (e.g., research laboratories, storage warehouses, power plants, garages, repair shops, etc.) which service the manufacturing establishments of a company. A separate report was usually obtained for each central office or auxiliary unit if it was located at a different location from the manufacturing establishment(s) served or if it serviced 2 or more manufacturing establishments and was not operated as an integral part of the establishment at the same location. Employment and payroll of central administrative offices and auxiliaries are included in the totals for the State.

[1]Employment and payroll totals for the central administrative offices and auxiliaries are not included in the statistics shown in tables 2-7 of this report.

[2]For the period 1956-1958, value added by manufacture represents adjusted value added and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting the cost of materials, supplies and containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from the value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, the difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) the net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year.

[3]The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for the period 1939-1957, but are included for 1929 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census and the Annual Survey figures include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1947-1958 was 1 employee, for 1921-1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[4]The data for operating manufacturing establishments for 1955-1957 are estimates derived from a representative sample of manufacturing establishments canvassed in the Annual Survey of Manufactures. These estimates, consequently, may differ from the results that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The sampling variability of these estimates is published in the Annual Survey of Manufactures Volume for the respective periods.

[1]The 1954 data are not strictly comparable with the figures shown for 1958 due to differences in coverage of Ready-mixed concrete establishments and Machine shops engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. *The 1954 figures are not shown (a) to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies or (b) because of revisions in the Standard Industrial Classification system which resulted in noncomparable data.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. Industries and industry groups reporting less than 100 employees are also omitted. They are included, however, in the appropriate industry group lines and the "All industries, total."

[2]The total value of shipments figures for industry groups and a few individual industries have not been published due to the extensive and unmeasurable duplication arising from shipments from 1 establishment to another in the same industry classification. (See Introduction.)

[3]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[4]The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with 1958 figures shown in the table. See Appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[5]Comparable data for selected industry groups are not available due to the adoption of the revised Standard Industrial Classification for 1958. For a complete description of these revisions, see Appendix A. However, selected 1954 figures have been retabulated to make them comparable to the 1958 data and are shown in the following table:

[2]The 1958 and 1954 county totals are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the 2 years in Major Groups 32 and 35. (See footnote 1 to table 3.)

[1]The method of compiling these figures has varied, as follows: All employees: for 1958, figures represent the average of the number of production workers for the payroll period ended nearest the 15th of March, May, August and November, plus all other employees for the payroll period ended nearest the 15th of March; for 1954, they represent an average of all employees for the payroll period ended nearest the 15th of March, May, August, and November; (However for Industries 2031, 2032, 2033, 2035, 2036, the 1954 figure for all employees is the average of the 12 monthly figures and the figure for production workers was calculated by subtracting from the all employees total the average number of nonproduction employees for March, May, August, and November); and for 1939 and prior years, the average number of production workers based on 12 monthly figures, plus the number of nonproduction workers for one payroll period (usually in October). Production workers: for 1958 figures are based on employment for the payroll period ended nearest the 15th of March, May, August, and November; for 1954 they are the average for the twelve months and for prior years, they represent the average of 12 monthly figures. Information on employment and payrolls at Central Offices and Auxiliaries cannot be shown without disclosing figures for individual companies.

[2]For 1958, value added by manufacture represents adjusted value added and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting the cost of materials, supplies and containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from the value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, the difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) the net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year.

[3]The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for 1939 and 1954, but are included for 1929 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1947-1958 was 1 employee, for 1921-1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[4]Figures for 1939 cover the 12 months ending September 30, 1939.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]In order to avoid disclosing figures reported by individual companies, the statistics for some industries (4-digit) and industry groups (3-digit) are not shown. [2]The total value of shipments figures for industry groups and a few individual industries have not been published because of extensive and unmeasurable duplication arising from shipments from one establishment to another in the same industry classification. (See Introduction.)

[3]The 1954 figures are not completely comparable to those shown for 1958 because of changes in coverage of Ready-mixed concrete establishments and Machine shops engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. See Appendix A.

[4]The figures for 1954 and 1958 are not strictly comparable because of changes in the Standard Industrial Classification system. See Appendix A.

[5]This industry was not shown separately in table 2 of the 1954 report. A footnote to table 2 in the 1954 report showed the number of establishments and total employment (either actual or in size ranges) for such industries.

[3]1958 and 1954 not completely comparable because of changes in Standard Industrial Classification. See Appendix A.

[1]The 1958 Census of Manufactures figures include establishments classified in Industry 3273, Ready-mixed concrete, and establishments classified in Industry 3599, Machine shops, that were engaged exclusively or almost exclusively in machine shop repair work. The data for such establishments are excluded from the figures for 1939 and 1954, but are included for 1919 and earlier years. The 1954-1958 figures include data for establishments engaged in the processing and distribution of fluid milk, Industry Group 202, Dairy Products. These establishments were not included in the figures for earlier Census years. In addition, the 1958 and 1954 Census figures include data for Logging camps and contractors, Industry 2411, which were not included within the scope of the 1947 Census. There were also a number of changes in the definition of manufacturing industries during earlier Census years that affect the comparability of the historical series. Among the more important of these were: Figures for 1935 and later years exclude data for "Railroad repair shops" and "Manufactured gas" which were included in 1899-1933 figures; the minimum size of establishment included for 1954-1958 was 1 employee, for 1939 manufacturing establishments reporting value of shipments of $5,000 or more were within scope whereas for 1919 and earlier years the cutoff was $500. (These changes in procedure have not appreciably affected the comparability of the historical data except for the figures on number of establishments.)

[2]The method of compiling these figures has varied, as follows: All employees: for 1958, figures represent the average of the number of production workers for the payroll period ended nearest the 15th of March, May, August and November, plus all other employees for the payroll period ended nearest the 15th of March. For 1954, the figure for all employees is the average number for the payroll period ended nearest the 15th of each month; except that the figures for seasonal industries are based on the average employment for March, May, August and November; and for 1939 and prior years, the average number of production workers based on 12 monthly figures, plus the number of nonproduction workers for one payroll period (usually in October). Production workers: for 1958, figures are based on employment for the payroll period ended nearest the 15th of March, May, August, and November; for 1954, they are calculated by subtracting from the "all employees total" based on the average of the 12 monthly figures, the average number of nonproduction workers for March, May, August and November; and for 1939 and prior years, they represent the average of 12 monthly figures.

[3]For 1958, figures represent adjusted value added by manufacture and for earlier years, unadjusted value added. Adjusted value added is equal to value of shipments (including resales of finished products) less cost of finished products, materials, supplies, fuel, electric energy and contract work, plus the net change in the value of finished products and work-in-process inventories between the beginning and end of the year, without adjustment for price changes. Unadjusted value added is equal to value of products (excluding resales of finished products) less cost of materials, supplies, fuel, electric energy and contract work; no adjustment is made for changes in inventories of finished products and and work-in-process during the year. See Introduction, "Value Added by Manufacture."

[4]In addition to data shown for operating establishments, manufacturers reported 901 employees at central administrative offices and auxiliaries with $3,544 thousand payroll in 1958. In 1954 there were 166 employees at these units with payrolls of $858 thousand.

[5]Includes 272 members of cooperative associations not reported for 1899 or 1919.

[3]The 1958 and 1954 "All industries, total" are not strictly comparable because of differences in scope between the two years in Major Groups 32 and 35. See footnote 1, table 1.

[4]The 1954 data for this industry are not strictly comparable with the 1958 figures shown in the table. See appendix A for further information on the comparability of 1958 and 1954 statistics.

[5]Less than $100 thousand.

[6]Low level of activity reflects effects of prolonged strike during the first half of the year.

[1]1958 and 1954 quantity figures are not completely comparable. 1954 quantity figures were originally reported in thousands of dozens and converted to cases of 24; 1958 figures are cases of varying number of cans. Combined 1958 figures for canned fruits and canned fruit juices of $108,072 thousand includes canned pineapple and pineapple juice valued at $101,233 thousand and other canned fruits and fruit juices valued at $6,839 thousand.

[2]Low level of 1958 shipments reflect the effects of a prolonged strike during the first half of the year. The quantity figures reported are less than those appearing in the U. S. Department of Agriculture Sugar Situation because: (1) Considerable quantities of sugar are processed on a contract basis for sugar growers and are recorded in Census statistics as Commission receipts; (2) Census figures are shipments rather than production.

SPECIAL REPORT

Manufacturing Activity in Government Establishments

This special report presents data for manufacturing activities of selected Government establishments in continental United States. These data are not included in other 1958 Census of Manufactures reports, which cover privately operated establishments only. Manufacturing establishments owned by the Federal Government and operated by private companies either for the Government or for their own account are included with privately operated establishments. Three types of establishments are covered in this report: (1) manufacturing facilities owned and operated by the Department of Defense; (2) prison industries (Federal, District of Columbia, and State); and (3) manufacturing facilities owned and operated by other United States Government agencies. The data were prepared with the cooperation of the Department of Defense, the Department of Justice, the Department of Interior, and the District of Columbia and State prison systems. Comparable data for 1954, when available, are also shown.

Manufacturing Facilities Owned by the United States Government and Operated by the Department of Defense

Data are shown in tables 1-3 for manufacturing facilities owned by the United States Government and operated by the Department of Defense. Although these establishments may also be engaged in nonmanufacturing activities at the same location, the statistics represent only their activities relating to manufacturing.

This report covers all manufacturing installations operated by the Department of Defense which produce goods or perform manufacturing services for the general supply system of the Department of Defense. It does not include activities of Defense Department installations which serve primarily or exclusively their own installations (e.g., bakeries, some machine shops, and box plants).

Statistics are shown in tables 1 and 2 for employment, man-hours, payrolls, and value added by manufacture. Military personnel are not included in any of the employment, payroll or man-hours data. These data represent only nonmilitary (wage board and graded) employees engaged in the manufacturing activities at the plant. Value added by manufacture represents the total value of shipments (including the value of manufacturing services) less the cost of materials, parts, supplies, etc., actually consumed or put into production during the year, whether purchased during the year, withdrawn from inventories, or received from other Government agencies. For a few establishments, value added by manufacture was partly estimated by the Bureau of the Census after consultation with the Department of Defense, on the basis of related data reported by the establishment.

The value of shipments reflects all of the direct costs incurred by the establishments in manufacturing operations such as labor, raw materials, components, parts, supplies, overhead, etc. For shipyards, value of shipments represents the value of new construction and repair work performed during the year whether or not the vessels were completed by the year end. Generally, individual product statistics are shown in table 3 only for those items with a civilian counterpart. Furthermore, product detail on ordnance and related items is withheld for security reasons on advice of the Bureau of the Budget.

Prison Industries (Federal, District of Columbia and State)

During 1958 manufactured products valued at $97,307 thousand were produced in Federal, District of Columbia, and State prisons in the United States. The comparable 1954 figure of $69,184 thousand also includes the value of products produced for use within the institutions as well as for products transferred to other Governmental agencies or for sale in the open market. These data, shown in detail in table 4, cover the activities of the Federal Prison Industries, Inc., as well as those of the prison industries of each State and the District of Columbia.

Manufacturing Facilities Owned and Operated by Other United States Government Agencies

Manufacturing operations of the Bureau of Mines, U. S. Department of Interior, are not included in tables 1 through 4. That agency is the sole producer of helium in the United States. During 1958, it operated 4 plants from which 352 million cubic feet of helium valued at $5,741 thousand were shipped. The average number of employees totaled 448 of which 300 were production and related workers, and the total wages and salaries paid amounted to $1,980 thousand. Comparable figures for other years as well as additional detail for production, shipments, consumption, prices, reserves and activities relating to conservation and technology appear in the Minerals Yearbook, a publication of the Bureau of Mines.

Excluded from this report are the manufacturing activities of the Government Printing Office and the Tennessee Valley Authority. The operations of these agencies are covered in their Annual Reports. Also excluded are the minor manufacturing activities of such other Government agencies as the Post Office Department and the General Services Administration. The manufacturing activities of these latter agencies have no counterparts in private industry.

APPENDIX A.–NOTES ON COMPARABILITY OF 1954 AND 1958 DATA FOR SELECTED INDUSTRIES AND INDUSTRY GROUPS

Part 1.–Qualifications of the Comparability of 1954 and 1958 Statistics Shown in Industry Summary Tables

(This appendix is intended for use mainly with industry summary tables showing 1954 and 1958 data. Appendixes B and C should also be consulted for this purpose. Described below are elements of noncomparability between the 1954 and 1958 data shown in summary tables for industries and industry groups whose definitions were revised by the new (1957) Standard Industrial Classification, but the revisions were relatively minor. Negligible revisions in industry definitions which did not affect comparability are not listed here. Also omitted are instances where an old SIC industry was split into two or more new industries, or where the only change was the merger of two or more old industries into one new industry. (See Part 2 for a list of such industry splits and consolidations and for industries with the same definition but a different code number under the new SIC.)

Industries 2361 and 2369 illustrate the meaning of this Appendix: the new SIC classifies establishments primarily producing girls' and children's knit outerwear shirts in 2361 and this product was classified in 2369 under the old SIC. Therefore, they are included in the 1954 data for 2369 but in 1958 data for Industry 2361. 1958 employment for these establishments in ALL STATES was 1,438. This appendix shows, for this and other similar cases, the noncomparabilities of this type and the degree of such noncomparability. When the degree of noncomparability was substantial, 1954 figures were not shown in industry summary tables.

These qualifications of the 1954 data apply only to the specific codes next to which they appear. For example, the 1954 total for Major Group 20 excludes establishments primarily producing fats and oils because they were classified in Major Group 28 under the old SIC. However, 1954 data for the individual (4-digit) Fats and Oils Industries are shown in industry summary tables under their new Major Group 20 codes (2091 through 2095) because their definitions were not revised by the new SIC except in one case where two old industries were combined into one new industry)

[1] 2,500 to 4,999 employees. The exact figure is withheld to avoid disclosure of information for individual companies.

[2] The comparability of the figures for 1954 and 1958 is affected by differences in the coverage of fluid milk bottling, and, therefore, caution should be observed in evaluating the industry growth between the two years. For further explanation, see 1958 Census of Manufactures Industry Report, MC58(2)-20B, pages 2 and 3.

[3] The 1954 total for Major Group 22 has been adjusted to exclude old SIC Industry 2274, "Hard Surfaced Floor Coverings."

[4] The 1954 total for Major Group 29 has been adjusted to exclude old SIC Industries 2931, "Beehive Coke Ovens;" and 2932, "Byproduct Coke Ovens."

[5] The 1954 total for Major Group 30 has been adjusted to include old SIC Industry 3971, "Plastic Products, NEC."

[6] Industry 7534 is a Service Industry, "Tire Repair Shops."

[7] The 1954 total for Major Group 33 has been adjusted to include old SIC Industries 2931, "Beehive Coke Ovens;" 2932, "Byproduct Coke Ovens;" 3481, "Nails and Spikes;" and 3631, "Insulated Wire and Cable."

[8] The 1954 total for Major Group 34 has been adjusted to include old SIC Industries 3568, "Mechanical Stokers;" 3591, "Valves and Fittings, Except Plumbing;" and 3592, "Fabricated Pipe and Fittings." It has also been adjusted to exclude old SIC Industries 3471, "Lighting Fixtures" and 3481, "Nails and Spikes."

[9] The combined total for Major Groups 35 and 36 has been adjusted to include old SIC Industry 3471, "Lighting Fixtures" and to exclude old SIC Industries 3568, "Mechanical Stokers;" 3591, "Valves and Fittings, Except Plumbing;" 3592, "Fabricated Pipe and Fittings;" and 3631, "Insulated Wire and Cable."

[10] Industry 7699 is a Service Industry, "Machine Shop Repairs."

[11] Although the definition of Industry 3721 is the same under both the old and new SIC, comparability of the 1958 and 1954 figures may be affected by a difference in the method of assigning establishments to this industry. In 1958, an establishment manufacturing complete aircraft was classified in Industry 3721 if its value of work done on aircraft exceeded its value of shipments of any other single industry's products. In 1954, any establishment manufacturing at least one complete aircraft was classified in Industry 3721.

[12] The combined 1954 total for Major Groups 19 and 39 has been adjusted to include old SIC Industry 2274, "Hard Surfaced Floor Coverings" and to exclude old SIC Industry 3971, "Plastic Products, NEC."

APPENDIX B–INDUSTRY DESCRIPTIONS

This appendix presents, in tabular form, descriptions of industries for which data are published in the 1958 Census of Manufactures reports and a comparison of their 1958 and 1954 specialization and coverage ratios. These ratios are computed from data shown in Tables 5A and 5B of Volume II, Industry Statistics.

The scope and content of the 1958 Census conform to the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual, 1957 edition. The industry descriptions shown in this appendix follow the SIC manual but contain more extensive references to products classified in the industry and additional cross references to similar or related products classified in other industries. Revisions in industry definitions and code numbers from the previous classification system are also described. Although the complete SIC title is shown at the beginning of each industry description, cross references are usually in terms of Census "short" industry titles. SIC industries which have been rearranged or combined in the 1958 Census are listed by the Census code classification; the equivalent SIC industry is also included as part of the industry description.

Establishments are classified in industries on the basis of their principal activity, usually measured in terms of dollar value of products shipped (see Introduction, Section 7, Industry Classification of Establishments). While many establishments produce only products primary to the industry, most industries include some establishments which also produce secondary products (products classified as primary to other industries). The primary product specialization ratio describes the proportion of primary products shipped by the industry to total product shipments (both primary and secondary) by the industry. Miscellaneous receipts (receipts for contract work, sale of scrap, etc.) are excluded from this computation.

The coverage ratio is the proportion of primary products shipped by the industry to total shipments of these products by all manufacturing industries. Because of the diversity of manufactures, relatively few industries account for 100 percent of the manufacture of their primary products. Furthermore, an industry's coverage ratio may be reduced by the system of industry classification which distinguishes, for some industries, between different processes or degrees of integration in the manufacture of the same product. For such industries, the coverage ratio would be significantly different if the computations were confined to shipments of the products made by similar production processes rather than by all processes. For example, although Industry 3316, Cold Rolled Sheet, Strip, and Bars, accounted for only 18 percent of the shipments by all manufacturing plants, this output represented almost 100 percent of such products made from purchased materials.

Ratios are not computed for 4-digit industries in which receipts are predominantly from services rendered rather than for products shipped since the value of such services performed for others on either a contract or commission basis was not reported separately by type of service. Nor are ratios computed for industries having significant duplication between establishments in the industry due to the consumption of certain products of the industry as materials by other establishments in the same industry. Ratios are shown, however, wherever such duplication could be approximated and eliminated from the computations.

Industries are grouped by 1958 specialization and coverage ratios in the following summary table. In 1958, as in 1954, approximately 95 percent of manufacturing employment is included in industries with specialization of 80 percent or higher.

Industry group (3-digit) specialization and coverage ratios were not calculated for 1958 but are shown for 1954 to the extent that comparability permits. Industry group ratios are based on shipments of all products which are primary to any of the 4-digit industries included in the industry group. These ratios provide a measure of overlapping production with industries in other 3-digit groups. However, it should be noted that industry group ratios are derived from figures which may include duplication arising from the transfer of products between 4-digit industries in the group as well as within certain 4-digit industries.

20	FOOD AND KINDRED PRODUCTS This major group includes establishments manufacturing foods and beverages for human consumption, and certain related products, such as manufactured ice, chewing gum, vegetable and animal fats and oils, and prepared feeds for animals and fowls.
201	Meat products	311.8	(NA)	(NA)	311.4	97	99
2011	Meat Packing Plants Establishments primarily engaged in the slaughtering, for their own account or on a contract basis for the trade, of cattle, hogs, sheep, lambs, calves, horses, and other animals except small game, for meat to be sold or to be used on the same premises in canning and curing, and in making sausage, lard, and other products. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing sausages and meat specialties from purchased meats are classified in Industry 2013; and establishments primarily engaged in killing, dressing, packing, and canning poultry, rabbits, and other small game in Industry 2015. Some slaughtering operations are conducted in establishments which are not included in the Census of Manufactures, such as those chiefly engaged in wholesale or retail trade, locker plant services, etc. A check of the 1954 Census of Manufactures records with those of the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicated that the Census of Manufactures included about 90 percent of the volume of commercial livestock slaughter. A similar comparison of the 1958 Census slaughter statistics with those of the U.S.D.A. indicates that coverage of commercial slaughter is about at the same level.	200.8	98	88	220.2	97	89
2013	Sausages and Other Prepared Meat Products Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing sausages, cured meats, smoked meats, canned meats, frozen meats, other prepared meats, and meat specialties, from purchased carcasses and other materials. Sausage kitchens and other prepared meat plants operated by packing houses as separate establishments also are included in this industry. Establishments primarily engaged in killing, dressing, and packing poultry, rabbits, and other small game, and those canning poultry are classified in Industry 2015. Establishments primarily engaged in the cutting up and resale of purchased fresh carcasses are classified in trade industries. Prepared meats manufactured in retail and independent wholesale establishments are not included in the Census of Manufactures. The definition of this industry was slightly revised in comparison with the previous definition to exclude synthetic sausage casings, which are now classified in Industry 3079, "Miscellaneous Plastics".	48.6	97	[4]33	45.0	98	[4]28
2015	Poultry and Small Game Dressing and Packing, Wholesale Establishments primarily engaged in killing, dressing, packing, and canning poultry, rabbits, and other small game for their own account or on a contract basis for the trade. This industry also includes the drying, freezing, and breaking of eggs; but not the cleaning, oil treating, packing and grading of eggs which are classified in Wholesale Trade. Poultry and small game killed and dressed at farms, hatcheries, frozen food lockers and wholesale and retail establishments are not included in manufacturing. This definition of the industry represents a revision of the previous definition. Canned poultry, formerly classified in Industry 2033, Canned Fruits and Vegetables, and liquid, dried and frozen eggs, formerly classified in Industry 2099, Other Food Preparations, are now classified in this industry.	62.4	98	98	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
202	Dairy products	293.9	(NA)	(NA)	283.4	99	99
2021	Creamery Butter Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing creamery butter.	17.3	70	80	21.0	74	77
2022	Natural Cheese Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing all types of natural cheese except cottage cheese, and which may produce processed cheese in the same establishment. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing processed cheese from purchased natural cheese are classified in Industry 2025, and cottage cheese in Industry 2026. This definition of the industry represent a revision of the previous definition. Cottage cheese, formerly classified in this industry, is now classified in Industry 2026, Fluid Milk. Processed cheese and cheese spreads made in integrated cheese plants were transferred to this industry from Industry 2025, Special Dairy Products.	13.5	89	94	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
2023	Condensed and Evaporated Milk Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing condensed and evaporated milk, and related products, including ice cream mix and ice milk mix made for sale as such. This definition represents a slight revision of the previous definition. The following products, formerly part of Industry 2025, Special Dairy Products, were transferred to this industry: dry flavored milk products, malted milk powder, and dry dietary supplements.	13.4	84	69	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
2024	Ice Cream and Frozen Desserts Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing ice cream and other frozen desserts.	34.6	94	71	36.5	93	70

2037	Frozen Fruits, Fruit Juices, Vegetables and Specialties. Establishments primarily engaged in quick freezing and cold packing (freezing) fruits, fruit juices, vegetables, and specialties. Excluded from this industry are establishments primarily engaged in packing fruits and vegetables for freezing but not freezing the product; cold storage warehouses freezing foods for others, frozen food locker and other establishments freezing for individual consumers or farms and ranches producing frozen fruits and vegetables. Establishments primarily freezing meats and poultry are included in Industry Group 201, Meat Products. This definition represents a significant revision of the previous definition. Frozen and packaged prepared foods such as frozen fruit pies, meat pies, baked goods, complete dinners, etc. were classified into this industry from Industry 2099, Food Preparations, n.e.c.	39.5	88	91	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
204	Grain mill products. Establishments in this group of industries frequently supplement their manufacturing activities with sales of grain and of commodities produced elsewhere. Such establishments were classified in manufacturing if at least 25 percent of their total receipts were from manufacturing activities, except for Industry 2042, Prepared Feeds for Animals and Fowls, where it was required that receipts from manufacturing exceed receipts from merchandising. Most establishments which mixed some feed but did not meet these criteria were included in the 1958 Census of Business, except for some whose principal activity (e.g. custom milling) fell outside the scope of any of the 1958 economic censuses.	119.1	(NA)	(NA)	123.5	(NA)	(NA)
2041	Flour and Other Grain Mill Products. This industry comprises establishments primarily engaged in milling flour or meal from grain, except rice (Industry 2044). Establishments primarily engaged in weaving cotton carpets and rugs are classified in Industry 2271; those tufting carpets and rugs in Industry 2272; and those making tire cord and fabric in Industry 2296. In the 1945 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification, cotton, silk, and synthetic broad woven fabric mills were classified in Industry 2231. For Census purposes, this industry was subdivided into two parts: Cotton Broad Woven Fabric Mills, Code 2233, and Synthetic Broad Woven Fabric Mills, Code 2234. In the revised 1957 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification, Industry 2211 is directly comparable to the old Census Industry 2233. In the product coding system for the 1958 Census of Manufactures, finished cotton fabrics and certain cotton fabricated products were classified as primary to Industry 2231 when made in weaving mills. Similar products made in non-weaving establishments were classified as primary to the appropriate industry; for example, sheets made in strictly cut-and-sew plants were classified as primary to Industry 2392, Housefurnishings, n.e.c.	243.4	94	82	296.2	95	83

Establishments primarily engaged in weaving carpets and rugs from these fibers are classified in Industry 2271; those tufting carpets and rugs from these fibers in Industry 2272; and those making tire cord and fabric in Industry 2296. In the 1945 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification, cotton, silk, and synthetic broad woven fabric mills were classified in Industry 2231. For Census purposes, this industry was subdivided into two parts: Cotton Broad Woven Fabric Mills, Code 2233, and Synthetic Broad Woven Fabric Mills, Code 2234. 226	Dyeing and finishing textiles, except wool fabrics and knit goods. Revision in Industry Classifications In the 1945 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification, plants finishing textile products, except wool and knit goods, were classified in old Industry 2261. The 1957 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification split out three separate finishing industries from old Industry 2261. In concept, the three new industries are directly comparable to the old industry.	73.2	(NA)	(NA)	79.3	86	41
2261	Finishers of Broad Woven Fabrics of Cotton. Establishments primarily engaged in finishing purchased cotton broad woven fabrics, or finishing such fabrics on a commission basis. These finishing operations include bleaching, dyeing, printing (roller, screen, flock, plisse), and other mechanical finishing such as preshrinking, calendering and napping. This industry also includes the shrinking and sponging of cloth for the trade, and the chemical finishing for water-repellency, fire-resistance, and mildew-proofing. 2269	Dyeing and Finishing Textiles, n.e.c. Establishments primarily engaged in dyeing and finishing textiles, n.e.c., such as bleaching, dyeing, printing, and finishing of raw stock, yarn, braided goods, and narrow fabrics, except wool. These establishments perform finishing operations on purchased textiles or on a commission basis.	7.8	95	[4]73	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
227	Floor covering mills. Revised Industry Definitions These new definitions are based on the process of manufacture: weaving mills are classified in New Industry 2271, tufting plants in 2272, and plants using other processes in 2279. The 1945 edition of the S.I.C. defined the industries according to the type of fiber used. Thus wool rug mills were in Old Industry 2271, and mills primarily using fibers other than wool were in Old Industry 2273. In addition, Old Industry 2271 included yarn mills which were transferred to Group 228 under the 1957 S.I.C. Group 227 also formerly included hard-surface floor coverings, which were transferred to Major Group 39.	33.7	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)

228	Yarn and thread mills	106.9	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
	Revised Industry Definitions A. Yarn Spinning Mills. In the 1954 Census of Manufactures, yarn spinning mills were classified by type of yarn and type of process used in its manufacture. Woolen and worsted system carpet yarn producers were classified in old Industry 2271, Wool Carpets, Rugs, and Carpet Yarn. Woolen and worsted yarn mills other than carpet yarn were classified in old Industry 2212, while mills spinning yarn on cotton and silk system machinery were included in old Industry 2224. In addition, old Industry 2224 included mills producing tire cord and tire cord fabric. Under the revised SIC definitions, tire cord and tire cord fabric producers are classified in new Industry 2296. All yarn spinners are classified into two industries based on the fiber spun. Wool and chiefly wool yarn producers are included in new Industry 2283, Wool Yarn Mills. Mills primarily producing spun yarn from other fibers are classified in new Industry 2281, Yarn Mills, Except Wool. The new Industry 2283, Wool Yarn Mills, differs from the old Industry 2212, which comprised establishments primarily producing yarn, except carpet yarn, on woolen and worsted equipment. B. Yarn Throwing and Winding Mills. In the 1954 Census, yarn throwing mills were classified in old Industry 2222, while establishments primarily engaged in winding, warping, and spooling yarns not spun or thrown in the same plant were included in old Industry 2299. (In a few cases, establishments winding or spooling cotton yarn were in old Industry 2224.) In the revised SIC, all yarn throwing, winding, and spooling mills are in Industry 2282, Throwing and Winding Mills.

254	Partitions, shelving, lockers, and office and store fixtures.....	37.7	91	86	33.1	88	87
	Industry Group 254, Partitions and Fixtures includes: Industry 2541, Wood Partitions and Fixtures, which comprises those establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing wood shelving, lockers, office and store fixtures, prefabricated partitions, and related fabricated products; and Industry 2542, Metal Partitions and Fixtures, which comprises those establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing metal shelving, lockers, office and store fixtures, prefabricated partitions, and related fabricated products. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing refrigerated cabinets, show cases, and display cases are classified in Industry 3585, Refrigeration Machinery; and safes and vaults in Industry 3492.
	Reportability and classification problems associated with the identification of partitions and fixtures as to wood or metal prevents showing separately detail for Industry 2541 and Industry 2542. Data for Industries 2541 and 2542 have been combined under the industry group heading 254, Partitions and Fixtures. The industries in this Industry Group as classified under the 1957 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual were changed to code numbers 2541 and 2542 from code number 2541 in the previous classification system, to show separately partitions and fixtures as wood or metal, but were not changed as to content.

2591	Venetian Blinds and Shades.....	11.2	92	93	13.8	85	87
	Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing Venetian blinds, regardless of the materials used, and shades except canvas shades and awnings, which are classified in Industry 2394.
	This industry classification combines two old industries which were separate in the previous classification system: 2562, Window Shades and 2563, Venetian Blinds.
2599	Furniture and Fixtures, n.e.c.....	8.0	71	74	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
	Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing furniture and fixtures, n.e.c., including furniture especially designed for use in restaurants.
	The definition of this industry was significantly revised in comparison with the previous definition to include the products of old Industry 2591, Restaurant Furniture, and Hospital Beds, formerly classified in Industry 2532, Professional Furniture (Hospital, Clinical, Laboratory, Etc.), Except Beauty and Barber Shop.
26	PAPER AND ALLIED PRODUCTS
	This major group includes the manufacture of pulps from wood and other cellulose fibers, and rags; the manufacture of paper and paperboard; and the manufacture of paper and paperboard into converted products such as paper coated off the paper machine, paper bags, paper boxes, and envelopes. Certain types of converted paper products are classified elsewhere, such as abrasive paper in Industry 3291; carbon paper in Industry 3955, and photosensitized and blueprint paper in Industry 3861.
261	Pulp mills.....	14.2	98	73	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
2611	Pulp Mills.....	14.2	98	73	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
	Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing pulp from wood or from other materials such as rags, linters, wastepaper, and straw. Logging camps operated by pulp mills, and not separately reported, are also included in this industry. Establishments primarily engaged in cutting pulpwood are classified in Industry 2411; and pulp mills combined with paper mills or paperboard mills, and not separately reported, are classified with the latter in Industries 2621 and 2631, respectively.
	The content of the industry has been significantly changed from the previous classification system. In the 1958 Census of Manufactures, pulp mills operated in conjunction with a paper and board mill at the same location were permitted to file a combined report for such integrated operations. However, in 1954 all pulp mill activity was separately reported whether or not such pulp mill operations were conducted at the same physical location as an associated paper or board mill. This change in treatment has the effect of restricting the reporting of a "pulp mill" for classification in Industry 2611 in the 1958 Census to the following situations: (a) Those pulp mills which are not affiliated with any paper and board mills and ship all their products to the market; (b) Pulp mills affiliated or associated with a primary paper or board mill but which are separately located from the pulp mill; and (c) A few pulp mills affiliated or associated with a primary paper or board mill at the same physical location, where separate departmental records of employment, materials, and fuel costs, shipments, etc., are maintained for the pulp mill from those covering the paper or board mill at that location and the company elected to file such a separate report.
	In addition, tall oil, formerly classified in this industry, is now considered primary to Industry 2861, Gum and Wood Chemicals, and tall oil fatty acids, also formerly classified in this industry, are now considered primary to Industry 2894, Fatty Acids.

2661	Building Paper and Building Board Mills	20.7	95	96	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
	Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing building paper and building board from wood pulp and other fibrous materials. Pulp mills combined with building paper and building board mills, and not separately reported, are also included in this industry; where separately reported, they are classified in Industry 2611. This industry was changed to code number 2661 from code number 2613 in the previous classification system. Although the products classified in the industry remained the same, its content was changed. As noted previously in connection with Industry 2611, Pulp Mills, establishments producing pulp at the same physical location as paper or board were not required in the 1958 Census of Manufactures to submit a separate report for the pulp mill operations. This change in the reporting requirements had less effect on the general statistics of mills primarily engaged in producing building paper and board than on those producing paperboard and paper, except building paper.

	Establishments primarily engaged in publishing newspapers, or in publishing and printing newspapers. These establishments carry on the various operations necessary for issuing newspapers, including the gathering of news, and the preparation of editorials and advertisements, but may or may not perform their own printing. Commercial printing is frequently carried on by establishments engaged in publishing and printing newspapers, but even though the commercial printing may be of major importance, such establishments are included in this industry. Establishments not engaged in publishing newspapers, but which print or lithograph newspapers for publishers, are classified in Industry 2751, Commercial Printing: Letterpress or Industry 2752, Commercial Printing: Lithographic. News syndicates are classified in Service Industries. Establishments primarily engaged in publishing shopping news are classified in Industry 2741, Miscellaneous Publishing. Publications have been classified as periodicals (Industry 2721) rather than as newspapers if their news and editorial presentations do not appear to be directed to the public at large. Among the types of publications sometimes considered newspapers, but treated in the Census as periodicals, are the following: trade journals; house organs, local church or school papers and like publications with very limited or specialized news treatment. Generally, publications issued by non-profit organizations, (educational, religious, charitable, labor, business, professional, etc.), are classified as periodicals, as are magazine and comic supplements for Sunday newspapers.

	Establishments primarily engaged in rolling, drawing and extruding copper, brass, bronze and other copper-base alloy basic shapes such as plate, sheet, strip, bar, and tubing. Establishments primarily engaged in recovering copper and its alloys from scrap or dross are classified in Industry 3341. The definition of this industry was revised. In the previous classification system, establishments engaged in the production of electrical copper and copper-base alloy wire were classified in Industry 3351 if the establishment had its own rod mill. In the 1957 S.I.C. such establishments are included in Industry 3357, Drawing and Insulating of Nonferrous Wire. Also, in the previous classification system both electrical and mechanical copper and copper-base alloy wire were considered primary to both Industry 3351 and Industry 3392, Wire Drawing. In the revised system, mechanical wire is treated as primary to Industry 3351 and electrical wire is treated as primary to Industry 3357.
3352	Rolling, Drawing and Extruding of Aluminum	46.9	91	[4]92	36.8	92	93
	Establishments primarily engaged in rolling, drawing and extruding aluminum and aluminum-base alloy basic shapes such as plate, sheet, bar, tubing and foil. The definition of this industry was significantly changed in comparison with the previous definition. Plain aluminum foil (foil mills) which were previously included in Industry 3497, Metal Foil, are now included in Industry 3352.
3356	Rolling, Drawing and Extruding of Nonferrous Metals, Except Copper and Aluminum	16.6	77	[4]82	12.0	(NA)	(NA)
	Establishments primarily engaged in rolling, drawing and extruding nonferrous metals other than copper (Industry 3351), and aluminum (Industry 3352). The products of this industry are produced in the form of basic shapes, such as plate, sheet, strip, bar and tubing. Establishments primarily engaged in recovering nonferrous metals and alloys from scrap or dross are classified in Industry 3341; in manufacturing gold, silver, tin and other foils, except aluminum, in Industry 3497; and aluminum foil in Industry 3352. This industry was changed to code number 3356 from code number 3359 in the previous classification system but was not changed as to content.
3357	Drawing and Insulating of Nonferrous Wire	56.5	94	[4]84	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
	Establishments primarily engaged in drawing, drawing and insulating, and insulating wire and cable of nonferrous metals from purchased wire bars, rods or wire. The definition of this industry was changed in comparison with the previous definition. In the previous classification system, establishments engaged in drawing, or drawing and insulating wire and cable of nonferrous metals were included in old Industry 3392, Wire Drawing, along with establishments drawing steel wire. Establishments insulating wire and cable from purchased wire were classified in old Industry 3631, Insulated Wire and Cable. Establishments engaged in the production of electrical copper and copper-base alloy wire were classified in old Industry 3351 if the establishment had its own wire rod mill. Under the present definition, each of the three types of establishments described above are included in this industry.
336	Nonferrous foundries	62.2	(NA)	(NA)	73.5	90	92
	These foundry industries comprise establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing aluminum castings, including cast aluminum cooking utensils (3361), brass, bronze, and copper castings including unmachined bearings and bushings (3362), and other nonferrous castings (3369). For these industries, captive production (that is, the tonnage of castings produced for incorporation into the final product of the plant or company) is a particularly important factor. Distinction is made between rough castings and castings which are machined or further processed and incorporated into other products. The removal of gates, risers, sprues, and tumbling, dipping, and sand blasting do not constitute machining. Plants primarily engaged in manufacturing castings are included in the foundry industries; plants primarily engaged in further processing castings into parts for metal products or machinery are classified in other major groups. For the 1958 Census of Manufactures separate establishment reports were received from all commercial (jobbing) foundries and from those captive foundries which were operated as separate establishments by the reporting companies. These two groups comprise the types of establishments included in Industries 3361, 3362, and 3369. However, where the captive foundry operation was completely integrated with the operations of the entire plant, no separate establishment report was received for the foundry activity. In these instances data were obtained on the tonnage of castings produced and consumed and on the number of employees usually engaged in the captive foundry operation. However, establishments with such foundry departments were classified on the basis of the plant's final product and accordingly, the general statistics on employment, payrolls, cost of materials, etc., are included in the data for such industries as Plumbing Fittings, Brass Goods (3432) and Valves and Pipe Fittings (3494), etc.

3431	Enameled Iron and Metal Sanitary Ware Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing enameled iron, cast iron, or pressed metal sanitary ware. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing vitreous and semivitreous pottery sanitary ware are classified in Industry 3261; and those manufacturing porcelain enameled kitchen, household, and hospital ware in Industry 3461. This industry includes establishments which fall into two significantly different categories, namely those producing cast iron plumbing fixtures and those producing metal fixtures of pressed metal. Accordingly, the manufacturing plants included in this industry involve different manufacturing processes depending upon the line of products produced. Those fixture plants producing cast iron fixtures include significant foundry operations while the pressed metal fixture plants are more closely allied to metal fabricating plants producing their product by forming processes (stamping, drawing, etc.). The operations of the largest establishments in this industry cover the entire production process including the casting of the fixture, through the machining, finishing, and assembly operations. In general these processes are carried on at a single manufacturing plant. However, in a few instances the foundry operations were performed at separate locations and, accordingly, those separate foundries were classified in the foundry industries (S.I.C. Industries 3321, 3322, 3323, 3361, 3362 and 3369). In the latter case the plants classified in this industry would be limited to machining and finishing operations on castings received from their associated plants. This is a new industry, the products of which were previously included in old Industry 3431, Plumbing Fixtures and Fittings. Old Industry 3431 also included plumbers' brass goods--faucets, fitting, etc.,which were transferred to Industry 3432, Plumbing Fixtures, Fittings and Trim, and septic tanks which were transferred to Industry 3443, Boiler Shop Products.	12.4	84	92	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)

3444	Sheet Metal Work Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing sheet metal work for buildings (not including fabrication work done by construction contractors at the place of construction), and manufacturing sheet-metal stovepipes, light tanks, etc. Establishments in the sheet-metal field are frequently engaged in activities which overlap the economic divisions of manufacturing, wholesale, service and construction, and some difficulty is experienced in distinguishing a sheet-metal manufacturing establishment from other sheet-metal wholesalers. Establishments performing manufacturing operations incidental to their installation or contracting business are excluded from the Census of Manufactures. Conversely, many of the plants included in Industry 3444, Sheet Metal Work, are engaged to a secondary extent in wholesaling or installing sheet-metal items.	58.8	88	82	50.2	81	80
3449	Architectural and Miscellaneous Metal Work Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing architectural and miscellaneous work of ferrous and nonferrous metals, such as stairs and staircases, open steel flooring (grating), fire escapes, grilles, railings, fences and posts. The products of this industry consist of a wide variety of unassembled parts and are usually manufactured on a job or order basis. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing standard bolts, nuts, rivets, screws, or other industrial fasteners, on headers, threaders, and nut forming machines are classified in Industry 3452, Bolts, Nuts, Washers and Rivets. Industry 3451 includes establishments producing a wide variety of items such as small machinery parts, etc., on hand operated and automatic screw machines from rod, bar and tube stock and from castings and forgings. These products are produced almost entirely on a job or order basis. Included are screw machine departments or plants of companies primarily engaged in producing finished end products where such activities could be reported separately. However, in many instances captive screw machine operations were so integrated with other activities that separate reports were not obtained and the entire establishment was classified on the basis of its primary products. This industry was changed to code number 3451 from code number 3495 in the previous classification system but was not changed in definition.	31.8	94	87	35.0	93	82

Establishments in Industry 3461 produce both job stampings and finished end products. Job stampings are made from materials owned by the stamping establishments as well as from materials owned by the customer and processed by the stamping establishments on a contract or commission basis. These stampings are mainly parts which are sold to manufacturers for incorporation into any of a wide variety of products such as refrigerators, agricultural machinery, radio and television sets. Finished end products manufactured by establishments in this industry include cooking, kitchen, and hospital utensils (including domestic pressure cookers and porcelain enameled utensils), pails, ash cans, garbage cans, perforated metal products, metal commercial and home canning closures as well as a large variety of miscellaneous items. Industry 3461 includes the stamping departments of establishments primarily engaged in producing fabricated metal products where such stamping activities could be reported separately. However, where captive stamping operations were closely integrated with other activities, such as in the production of household appliances, farm equipment, motor vehicles, etc., separate reports were not obtained. This industry combines two industries which were separate in the previous classification system: 3461, Vitreous-Enameled Products and 3463, Metal Stampings.	125.6	86	87	135.5	(NA)	(NA)

However, in the 1954 Census of Manufactures these products were included in Industry 3579. These two industries were combined partly because automatic merchandising machines are produced by a group of manufacturers distinct from those which produce amusement and other coin-operated machines and also because the data for a coin-operated machines industry would have very limited significance as a result of the classification of many types of coin operated machines in other industries. However, in the 1957 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification, coin-operated vending machines and mechanisms have been transferred to Industry 3581, Automatic Vending Machines, and coin-operated amusement machines, such as pinball, bell type machines and consoles, strength testing, skill games, and other arcade pieces, to Industry 3999, Miscellaneous Products, n.e.c.

In the 1958 Census of Manufactures, as in 1954, the three Standard Industrial Classification Industries (3711, 3712, and 3714) have been combined because of a major problem of defining the reporting unit in terms of these industries. This difficulty arises from the fact that many large establishments have integrated operations which include the production of parts or bodies and the assembly of complete vehicles at the same location. Included in Industry 3717 are such parts as passenger-car bodies, motor vehicle engines (except Diesel), brakes, clutches, axles, radiators, differentials, transmissions, wheels and frames, windshield wipers, automotive bumpers, camshafts, connecting rods, crankshaft assemblies, cylinder heads, drive shafts, exhaust systems, fuel systems, heaters, hoods, horns, instrument board assemblies, lubrication systems, mufflers, power-transmission equipment, rear-axle housings, shock absorbers, steering mechanisms, universal joints, wheel rims, windshield frames, and automobile accessories, n.e.c. A considerable number of components, parts, and accessories for motor vehicles are not classified in Industry 3717 but are classified in other Standard Industrial Classification industries based on the characteristic of the product itself rather than the use to which it is put. Among the more important of these are automotive hardware, Industry 3429, Hardware, n.e.c.; automotive stampings, Industry 3461, Metal Stampings; Diesel and semi-Diesel engines, Industry 3519, Internal Combustion Engines; sealed beam and other electric lamps, Industry 3641, Electric Lamps (Bulbs); motor vehicle lighting fixtures, Industry 3642, Lighting Fixtures; tire and inner tubes, Industry 3011, Tires and Inner Tubes; automobile glass, Industry 3211, Flat Glass; ignition equipment such as spark plugs, distributors, switches, ignition coils, generators, cranking motors, etc., Industry 3694, Engine Electrical Equipment; storage batteries, Industry 3691, Storage Batteries; automobile radios, Industry 3651, Radio and TV Receiving Sets; and carburetors and pistons, Industry 3599, Machine Shops. The definition of this industry was slightly changed in comparison with the previous definition. Rebuilt motor vehicle engines and parts (except carburetors), automobile, truck and bus bearings, formerly classified in Industries 3599, Machine Shops and 3566, Power Transmission Equipment, respectively, are now included in Industry 3717, Motor Vehicles and Parts.	541.5	[6]90	([8])	649.3	(NA)	(NA)

(D) Withheld to avoid disclosing data for individual companies.

[1]For 1958, all employee figures represent the average of the number of production workers for the payroll period ended nearest the 15th of March, May, August, and November, plus all nonproduction personnel for the payroll period ended nearest the 15th of March. For 1954, the figures represent the average of all employees for these four specified payroll periods.

Comparability of 1954 figures shown for an industry with figures for 1958 is affected to a minor extent where the industry description indicates that its definition was revised. Where a substantial degree of noncomparability resulted from a revision in definition, 1954 figures are not shown.

1954 employment may be shown for a 3-digit group even where one or more of the 4-digit industry employment figures is withheld for lack of comparability, if it was felt that the definition of the 3-digit group nevertheless was substantially comparable between 1954 and 1958.

[2]Ratio of value of primary products shipped by the industry to total product shipments (primary plus secondary) by the industry. (Also see second paragraph of Footnote 1.)

[3]Ratio of value of primary products shipped by the industry to total shipments of these products by all manufacturing industries. (Also see second paragraph of Footnote 1.)

[4]The coverage ratio is relatively low owing to the fact that some or all of the primary products of the industry are also primary to other industries. (See industry description.) The coverage ratio would be higher if the numerator of the computation also included shipments of these products by the other industries to which they are primary.

[5]Specialization ratio is based on percentage of value of primary products to total shipments, including primary products, secondary products, and miscellaneous receipts (contract and commission work on materials owned by others, scrap and salable refuse, repair work, etc.).

[6]The value of shipments of the industry contains a substantial amount of duplication. The ratios shown are based on estimates of unduplicated totals and are generally minimum percentages.

[7]Percentages are based on figures containing a substantial amount of duplication.

[8]Ratios are not shown because of substantial duplication in value of shipments for which estimates are not available.

[9]Data for 1954 include both woven and knit swimwear and athletic shorts, although only the knit portion is primary to Industry 2253. However, for the purpose of calculating the specialization and coverage ratios, only the knit portion was included. In 1958 woven fabric swimwear was classified in the appropriate apparel industry, in Major Group 23.

[10]Over 90 percent.

[11]This is a minimum percentage. The exact percentage cannot be shown without disclosing figures for individual companies.

[12]Over 84 percent.

[13]Relationships not meaningful because of the predominance of miscellaneous receipts for contract and commission work on materials owned by others.

[14]The substantial difference between 1954 and 1958 in the specialization and coverage ratios for Industry 3721 is largely due to a difference in the basis of assigning establishments to this industry. In 1958, an establishment manufacturing complete aircraft was classified in Industry 3721 if its value of work done on aircraft exceeded its value of shipments of any other single industry's products. In 1954, any establishment manufacturing at least one complete aircraft was classified in this industry.

[15]Between 85 and 99 percent.

APPENDIX C.–COMPOSITION OF INDUSTRIES IN THE NEW STANDARD INDUSTRIAL CLASSIFICATION COMPARED WITH THE OLD SIC

A. "Bridge" between the old and new Standard Industrial Classification

The 1958 Census of Manufactures covered all establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing as defined in the revised edition of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual issued by the Bureau of the Budget in 1957. In this revision, extensive modifications of industry definitions were made in some parts of the manufacturing sector. Each establishment report processed in the 1958 Census of Manufactures was classified and tabulated first on the basis of the old SIC industry definitions and then on the basis of the new SIC definitions. The preliminary reports previously issued were tabulated on the old SIC. The final reports of the 1958 Census and the bound volumes contain statistics tabulated according to the new SIC. It should be noted that establishments primarily engaged in activities that have been added to the scope of manufacturing by the new SIC are included in both the old SIC and new SIC tabulations (See below Section B, "Changes in the scope of manufacturing made by the 1957 Standard Industrial Classification").

This appendix provides a "bridge" between the two classification systems by showing how the new SIC industries are related to the old SIC industries. Part 1 gives the derivation of each new SIC 4-digit industry from the old SIC industries in terms of 1958 data. Part 2 is the reverse of Part 1. It shows how each old SIC industry was distributed among the new SIC industries. Additions to the scope of manufacturing, which are listed in Section B below, are included in Part 2 as old SIC industries even though they represent revisions introduced by the new SIC. Additional information on the nature and effects of revisions in industry definitions resulting from the adoption of the new SIC is provided in Section 5 of the Introduction, in the individual industry reports of Volume II, and in Appendix B, "Industry Descriptions," contained in Volumes I and III.

Part 1 provides the following 1958 data for each new SIC industry: (a) total number of establishments, establishments with more than 20 employees, all employees, and adjusted value added by manufacture, and (b) the contribution of the various old SIC industries to these totals. For example, new Industry 2015, Poultry dressing plants, has a total of 62,389 employees which was built up as follows: 55,635 were previously classified in old Industry 2015; 1,944 were in old Industry 2033 and were reassigned as a result of the transfer of canned poultry plants; 4,490 came from old Industry 2099 because of the transfer of liquid, dried and frozen egg plants; and 320 were classified in various other industries. Part 2 shows the same statistics on the disposition of each old industry. Thus, the totals for old Industry 2015 are 1,131 plants and 55,635 employees, all of which remained in the industry under the new SIC definition; that is, they were assigned to new Industry 2015.

B. Changes in the scope of manufacturing made by the 1957 Standard Industrial Classification

A number of revisions in the scope of manufacturing were introduced by the 1957 edition of the SIC. Several of these changes, as noted below, had previously been approved as amendments to the 1945 SIC for use in the 1954 Census of Manufactures, and one had already been made for the 1947 Census. The other revisions listed were introduced for the first time in the 1958 Census.

1. Additions to the scope of manufacturing were as follows:

a. Establishments processing milk (pasteurizing, homogenizing, vitaminizing and bottling)--transferred from trade industries. (Adopted for the 1954 Census.)
b. Establishments primarily engaged in preparing fresh packaged fish and other seafood--transferred from trade industries. (Adopted for the 1954 Census.)

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The term "old SIC" as used in the title and tables of this report refers not to the original industry structure of the 1945 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification, but rather to an amended version used in the 1954 Census of Manufactures. These amendments, which were approved by the Bureau of the Budget and are described in detail in Appendix B of the 1954 Census volumes reflect: (1) revisions in industry definitions resulting from the transfer of products from one industry to another; (2) regrouping of industries such as the combination of Industries 3711, 3712, and 3714 into a new classification, Industry 3717; and (3) changes in the scope of manufacturing, for example, the transfer of milk pasteurizing from trade industries to manufacturing. The preliminary reports of the 1958 Census and the old SIC data in this report are based on the 1954 Census of Manufactures industry classifications. In addition, ready-mixed concrete plants and machine shops exclusively engaged in repair work, which were excluded from manufacturing in the 1945 edition of the SIC and from the 1954 Census of Manufactures but were transferred to manufacturing by the new SIC, were also treated as part of the old SIC system in this report and in the 1958 Census preliminary reports.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]These data are for a miscellaneous group of establishments that were classified in the industry because of (a) shifts in their product classification to conform to the new SIC and (b) classification errors for small establishments that were not corrected since they were not statistically significant.

[2]Includes 1 establishment classified in the old Industry 2411, Logging Camps and Contractors.

[3]Includes 1 establishment previously classified in Industry 2394 and 1 establishment in Industry 2561, not shown separately in order to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[4]Includes 19 establishments formerly in Industry 2899, Chemical Products, NEC, which were reclassified into Industry 2819 because of the change in definition of Industry 2819 to include establishments primarily engaged in the manufacture of chemical catalytic preparations.

[5]Includes 12 plants that were formerly classified in the old Industry 2842, Cleaning and Polishing Preparations, and 1 plant formerly classified in Industry 2851, Paint and Varnishes. This reclassification was caused by the transfer of paint and varnish removers and brush cleaners from old Industry 2842 to new Industry 2852.

[6]Includes establishments with 2,500 to 4,999 employees primarily engaged in producing synthetic sausage casings which were classified into this industry from old Industry 2013, Prepared Meats.

[7]Represents establishments which produce seamless pipe from purchased materials. For years prior to 1958 such establishments were included in Industry 3312, but the 1957 edition of the SIC Manual classifies such establishments in Industry 3317 along with other establishments producing pipe and tubes from purchased materials. However, since the product data reported for steel pipe and tubes differentiated by type of pipe, e.g., standard, line, pressure, mechanical, etc., rather than by method of manufacture, it is possible that a few additional establishments may have been misclassified in the steel pipe and tubes industry which properly belonged in the Blast Furnaces and Steel Mills industry in the previous classification system.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[1]The old SIC industry totals in Part 2 may in some instances represent slight revisions of the corresponding 1958 old SIC totals shown in tables 1, 1A, and 2A of the industry reports in Volume II, Industry Statistics.

[2]These data are for a miscellaneous group of establishments that were transferred to other industries because of (a) shifts in their product classification to conform to the new SIC, and (b) classification errors for small establishments that were not corrected since they were not statistically significant.

[3]Includes establishments with 2,500 to 4,999 employees, primarily engaged in producing synthetic sausage casings, which have been transferred to new SIC Industry 3079, "Plastics Products, NEC."

[4]Figures differ from table 2A of the industry report because the latter excludes a number of establishments reclassified into other industries as a result of SIC revisions.

APPENDIX D.–CENSUS REPORT FORMS AND PUNCH CARDS

Approximately 200 different report forms ("standard" forms) were used in collecting information in the 1958 Census of Manufactures. Nearly all of these were variations of Form MC-35Q shown on pages D-2 thru D-9 of this appendix. Such forms were sent to larger manufacturing plants. Items 1 through 16 are the same on nearly all such forms. Items 17 and 18, while similar in general purpose, are different for each industry or group of related industries depending upon the materials used or the products manufactured. Items 19 thru 21 are similarly adapted to the special characteristics of individual industries.

In addition to the standard forms, thirty report forms ("short" forms) were used for small establishments. The size cut-off for use of short forms varied with the size composition of the industry, generally ranging from 4 to 10 employees. In a few industries these small establishments were typical and accounted for a significant proportion of the industry's total in their aggregate. In such cases modified versions of short forms were used.

On short forms, data requirements typically were limited to a relatively few key items, the chief variation among them being in the list of product classes preprinted in the shipments inquiry. A typical short form, MC-36Z, is also reproduced in this appendix.

Instructions for preparing the 1958 Census "standard" report forms are also shown below. No separate instructions were provided for "short" forms.

Additional forms used to cover separate central administrative offices and auxiliary units, plants under construction but not in operation during 1958, distribution of manufacturers' sales by class of customer, etc., are described in the introductory text which appears at the beginning of this Volume.

The basic punch card used in tabulating the 1958 Census data is shown on page D-19.

Purchase records instead of consumption records may be used for any major material, if purchases closely approximate consumption, and for all minor materials and supply items.

ITEM 13 CHECKS TO ASSURE A COMPLETE AND ACCURATE REPORT

Please Note—

1. The Census Bureau reviews your report for omissions, inconsistencies, and unusual ratios.
2. Incomplete answers will result in correspondence which is both costly and time consuming. Be sure to complete every item. Enter "None" in items 3–9 if appropriate.
3. Reasonably accurate estimates are acceptable. The statistical purposes of the Census will not be affected by such estimates. Preparing estimates at the time the report is completed will avoid the necessity for further correspondence on blank items.
4. All dollar figures are to be reported in thousands of dollars. For example, if the complete dollar figure to be reported is $1,367,700 enter $1368. All quantity figures should be reported in the unit specified in the item.
5. Failure to file reports within the requested period results in costly delays and follow-up letters. Please submit your reports as quickly as possible.
6. It is very difficult and costly to process your correspondence if you do not show your file number (see address box) on all correspondence concerning your Census reports.
7. The following inquiry is provided to call your attention to possible oversights and errors in the data entered on your form. To save you future correspondence about these problems, please make the checks indicated below before returning your report:
   a. Review the report carefully to see that no items are omitted.
   b. Calculate the four "reasonableness" checks described below, enter the figures for each, and analyze your results.
   c. Correct your report for any errors you find; explain unusual figures in the "Remarks" section below.

SELECTED MATERIALS CONSUMED DURING 1958

REPORT ALL VALUE FIGURES IN THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS

General.—This inquiry calls for a breakdown of your consumption of materials, parts, containers, and supplies, etc., during 1958, as reported in Item 6a of this form. Separate figures are required for each material listed below if your consumption of the material during 1958 amounted to $5,000 or more. If you consumed some of the listed material but less than $5,000 worth, please check the box provided for this purpose. The cost of materials, supplies, etc., which are not listed separately plus the value of the listed materials for which your 1958 consumption is less than $5,000 should be reported on the line for "All other materials, components, parts, containers, and supplies consumed." The total cost in Item 17 should, therefore, agree with Item 6a.

Cols. D and E—Consumption of Materials Received From Other Establishments.—Report the quantity (Col. D) and delivered cost (Col. E) for each of the purchased materials actually consumed or put into production during the year, whether received from other companies, withdrawn from inventory, or received from other establishments of this company. Do not include materials produced in this establishment and used in further fabrication or assembly.

Col. D—Quantity.—Report the quantities actually consumed in terms of the unit of measure specified in Col. C. If you do not have actual consumption records, but if purchases closely approximate consumption, your purchase figures may be used in reporting the item. However, if, for one of the items specifically listed, consumption differs significantly from purchases, please derive consumption figures by adding beginning inventory to purchases during the year and then subtracting closing inventory. Purchase data may be reported for minor materials and supply items.

Col. E—Delivered Cost.—Report amounts actually paid or payable after discounts, and include freight and direct charges incurred in acquiring the quantities of the listed materials consumed during 1958. For materials transferred from other establishments of this company, please estimate the commercial value of the material.

Line 11—All Other Materials and Components, Parts, Containers, and Supplies Consumed.—This figure may be derived by subtracting the sum of the material costs on lines 1–10 from total cost of all materials, parts, components, containers, and supplies consumed during 1958, as reported in Item 6a. This figure should also include the cost of the listed materials which are checked in Col. G because your 1958 consumption was less than $5,000.

PRODUCTS AND SERVICES OF THIS ESTABLISHMENT DURING 1958

REPORT ALL VALUE FIGURES IN THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS

Report separately each product listed; do not combine product lines.

Total Shipments and Interplant Transfers (Col. (D) and Col. (E)).—Report in these columns the quantity and selling value, f. o. b. plant, of all products made in this establishment which were physically shipped from this establishment during 1958. Include products shipped on consignment, whether or not sold at the end of the year. Deduct returned goods. Include products made for you by others on commission from your own materials. Exclude products made in this establishment on commission for others from their materials. Exclude items, such as "private brand" products, purchased from others for resale by you.

For value of shipments, report the net selling value, f. o. b. plant, of your total shipments of each product listed. The reported figures should represent values f. o. b. plant after discounts and allowances and should not include freight charges or excise taxes.

Include products transferred to other establishments of your company (such as other manufacturing plants or separate sales branches). Their "value" should be the nearest approximation to the commercial selling value, f. o. b. plant, and not the cost of production.

Resales (Line 23).—Report on this line the invoice sales value of products sold in the same condition as purchased, and which are not made part of any products included under "Products Made in This Establishment." This applies regardless of the brand names under which the products are resold. (The cost of such resold goods should be reported in Item 6b.)

U. S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE : 1958 OF—100066

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE BUREAU OF THE CENSUS

1958 CENSUS OF MANUFACTURES

The purpose of this pamphlet is to assist you in filling out the enclosed Census of Manufactures form(s). Please read the instructions for each item before entering your figures. Note that all value figures are to be reported in thousands of dollars, all man-hour figures are to be reported in thousands of hours, and all electric energy figures are to be reported in thousands of kilowatt-hours.

A. WHO SHOULD REPORT?

Every concern which receives a form is required to submit a separate census report for each of its manufacturing establishments in the Continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, the Virgin Islands, and Guam. Concerns with more than one establishment must submit a separate report for each establishment operated during all or any part of 1958. Your report should be returned to the Census Office shown on the enclosed envelope within 30 days of its receipt.

B. WHAT IS A MANUFACTURING ESTABLISHMENT?

A manufacturing establishment is a single physical location where industrial operations are performed; for example, a factory, mill, or plant. Where a single physical location comprises two or more units which are engaged in distinct or separate manufacturing activities, and for which separate records are available or for which substantially accurate reports can be prepared, each such unit shall be treated as a separate establishment. In the preparation of such reports a limited amount of prorating or estimating may be necessary. An establishment is not necessarily identical with the business concern or firm which may consist of one or more establishments. It is also to be distinguished from organizational departments or other subdivisions within an establishment. Units at different physical locations, even though engaged in the same line of manufacturing, processing, and assembly, should be reported as separate establishments.

If you have not received a sufficient number of forms to cover all manufacturing establishments operated by your concern during the report year, please write the Bureau of the Census for additional copies, indicating the type of activity which is not covered by the form(s) sent you. In corresponding for this, or any other reason, be sure to include in your letter the Census reference number which appears in the address box of the form sent you.

Please note that establishments engaged in the activities listed below are considered to be manufacturing for the purposes of this Census:

- Assembling from purchased components
- Apparel jobbing and contracting
- Publishing: book, magazine, periodical, etc.
- Printing
- Machine shops, including those operating on a job order basis
- Ready mixed concrete
- Logging camps and logging
- Sawmills
- Wood preserving
- Plating, galvanizing, polishing, etc., material owned by others
- Job casting, stamping, machining
- Milk pasteurizing and bottling
- Ship and boat repairing
- Lapidary work
- Rebuilding on a factory basis

If a manufacturing establishment had custodial or other employment, made shipments or had inventories during 1958, a report should be submitted for the location even though it was not in production during that year.

C. WHAT KIND OF ACTIVITIES SHOULD THE ESTABLISHMENT REPORTS COVER?

Each report should cover all the production activities (manufacturing, fabricating, processing, and assembling) conducted within the establishment. It should also include activities such as the maintenance of plant and equipment, receiving, shipping, warehousing, storage, research, record keeping, health, safety, cafeteria, and other services, when carried on at the same physical location by the manufacturing establishment. Your report should exclude sales branches, sales offices, research laboratories, retail stores, and general administrative offices, if they are operated as separate establishments. Separate Census reports should be submitted for each of these establishments.

REPORT ALL DOLLAR FIGURES, MAN-HOURS, AND KILOWATT-HOURS IN THOUSANDS

483973 O—58

D. WHAT PERIOD SHOULD EACH REPORT COVER?

Each report should cover the calendar year 1958. If your book records are not on a calendar year basis, carefully prepared estimates for this period will be accepted. If, however, this procedure will involve you in considerable additional costs, and the ending date of your fiscal year is not more than two months from December 31, 1958, you may report on a fiscal basis. As in the 1954 Census, however, all employment, payroll, and man-hour figures should relate to the calendar year rather than the fiscal year.

The dates given in the certification should show the exact period for which this report is made. Thus, if an establishment began to operate or ceased to operate within the year, the dates given will show that only part of a year is covered by the report. Where an establishment was operated during the year by two or more owners, complete the report only for that part of the year 1958 in which you owned and operated the establishment.

E. HOW SHOULD MULTIPLE ESTABLISHMENT COMPANIES DETERMINE TRANSFER VALUES OF PRODUCTS AND MATERIALS?

In order to provide accurate information for individual industries and States, it is necessary for each establishment of a multiple establishment organization to report as though it were operated as an independent manufacturing establishment. For example, where a single company operates a textile mill and also manufactures apparel, the transfer of fabrics from one establishment to the other should be reported at approximately commercial value and not at the cost of production. This requires that a company operating two or more establishments assign to the individual products transferred to other plants for further processing a reasonable proportion of the profits and the overhead costs. It is recognized that estimates will often be involved.

If the product section of the form (Item 18) calls for "interplant transfers" separately, it means transfers between manufacturing establishments of your company unless otherwise specified on the report form. The products reported at "transfer values" by the shipping establishments of your company should be reported by your receiving establishments as materials consumed (or inventories of materials, etc.) at the same values, except for the addition of freight and other direct handling charges.

These instructions apply to all establishments for which separate establishment reports are being submitted, including those at the same location as well as those at different locations.

ITEMS ON THE REPORT FORM

Items 1 and 2. (See instructions on Form.)

Item 3. Payrolls.—Report the gross earnings paid in calendar year 1958 to employees on the payroll at this establishment, including commissions, dismissal pay, paid bonuses, vacation and sick-leave pay, and compensation in kind, and prior to such deductions as employees' Social Security contributions, withholding taxes, group insurance, union dues, and savings bonds. (You should follow the definition of salaries and wages that is used for calculating the withholding tax.) Include salaries of officers at this establishment, if a corporation; exclude payments to proprietor or partners, if an unincorporated concern. Exclude payments to members of armed forces and pensioners carried on your active payroll.

Item 4. Number of Employees.—Report employees at this establishment who worked or received pay for any part of the pay period (preferably one week) ended nearest the 15th of the specified months (i. e., March, May, August, and November for "production workers" and March only for "all other employees"). Include all persons on paid sick leave, paid holidays, and paid vacation during these pay periods; exclude members of armed forces and pensioners carried on your active rolls. Include officers at this establishment, if a corporation; exclude proprietor or partners, if an unincorporated concern. (You may follow the definition of employees specified by your State Employment Security Agency.)

Items 4e and 4f. Add the four production worker employment figures on lines 4a–4d and enter total on line 4e; divide this total by FOUR and enter the result on line 4f. In cases where the establishment did not operate in all four periods, the sum shown in 4e should still be divided by four.

Item 5. Plant Man-Hours of Production Workers, by Quarter.—"Plant man-hours" of production workers are designed to measure the over-all activity of the plant during each quarter. The requested figures consist of all man-hours worked or paid for, except hours paid for vacations, holidays or sick leave, when the employee was not at the plant. Include actual overtime hours, not straight-time equivalent hours. If employee elects to work during the vacation period, report only actual hours worked by such employee.

Item 6. Cost of Materials, Fuels, Electric Energy, Contract Work, Etc.

What to Include in This Item.—Report total costs of materials, supplies, semi-finished goods, fuels, etc., actually consumed or put into production during 1958 by your establishment.

Definition of Consumption.—Include costs of materials, supplies, semi-finished goods, etc., used during 1958. Include costs of such items received prior to 1958 if they were consumed during 1958. Do not include items received in 1958 if they were not consumed that year. If your records do not show actual amounts consumed or put into production during the year, but purchases closely approximate consumption, purchase figures may be used in completing Items 6a, 6c, and 6d. This applies especially to minor materials and supply items. If, for any major item, however, consumption differs significantly from purchases, consumption should be computed from your records of purchases (receipts) and inventories of materials as follows: Add the cost of material received during the year to cost of material on hand at the beginning of the year and from this total subtract cost of material on hand at the end of the year. The resulting figure represents consumption during the year. In addition to items purchased from other companies you should be sure to include materials, fuels, supplies, etc., received from other establishments of your company.

Definition of Cost.—"Cost" refers to direct charges actually paid or payable for items consumed or put into production during the year. It should represent the net cost after discounts and should include freight charges and other direct charges incurred by the establishment in acquiring these materials.

The cost reported for materials, etc., received from other plants of your company or from a central materials depot (whether at the same or different physical location) should approximate the commercial values of these materials plus freight and other direct handling charges. Wherever possible, these figures should be checked with the values reported by the plant producing and transferring the goods and should exceed the shipment values reported for the producing plant by the addition of freight or other direct handling charges involved.

Item 6a. Cost of Materials, Parts, Components, Containers, Supplies, Etc., Consumed.—The figures reported in Item 6a should cover materials, supplies, etc., which were: (1) put into production, (2) used as operating supplies, (3) used in repair and maintenance, and (4) owned by you but consumed by other companies to make products for your establishment.

Report the total delivered cost of all raw materials, semi-finished goods, parts, components, containers, scrap, and supplies used or put into production during 1958 by this establishment. For semi-finished goods, parts, or components produced during 1958 and incorporated into finished products at the same plant during 1958, include the cost of raw materials used rather than the value of the intermediate products.

Include only physical goods used or put into production and not services used or overhead charges. Exclude such services as advertising, telephone, telegram and cable, insurance, developmental and research services provided by other establishments, services of engineering, management, marketing and other professional consultants, etc., unless charges for such services are included in the prices paid for materials. Exclude, in addition, such overhead items as depreciation charges against plant and equipment, rent and rental allowances, interest payments, royalties, and patent fees. Exclude materials, supplies, machinery, and equipment which were used in the construction of new structures or additions to your plant, or new machinery and equipment, and which are chargeable to fixed assets accounts. Products purchased and resold without further manufacture or processing or assembly should be included in Item 6b.

Item 6b. Cost of Products Bought and Resold Without Further Manufacture, Processing or Assembly in This Establishment During 1958.—Report the cost of all products bought and resold in the same condition as when purchased and not made part of another product manufactured by this establishment. (Total sales value of all products thus resold is to be reported in Item 18 on the line for "Resales.")

Item 6c. Fuels Consumed.—Report the total amount actually paid or payable during 1958 for all fuels consumed for heat, power, or the generation of electricity. Include anthracite and bituminous coal, coke, natural and manufactured gas, fuel oil, liquefied petroleum gas, gasoline, and all other fuels and purchased steam. The cost of fuels used as raw materials (e. g., natural gas in the production of carbon black) should be included in Item 6a.

Item 6d. Purchased Electric Energy.—Report the total amount actually paid or payable for electric energy purchased during 1958 from other companies, or received from other establishments of your company. Exclude the value of electricity generated at this establishment.

Item 6e. Cost of Work Done for You by Others on Your Own Materials During 1958 (Contract Work).—If any work was done by others on production materials furnished by your establishment, report the total payments made during 1958 for such work, including freight out and in. Exclude the cost of materials worked on, which should be included in Item 6a.

Item 7. Inventories of This Establishment.—Where a company operates more than one establishment (i. e., plant, sales branch, retail stores, etc.) the inventories held by each establishment should be included on Census reports for that establishment. Inventories should be reported at approximate current costs, if feasible; otherwise at book values.

Item 8. Capital Expenditures for This Establishment During 1958 (Exclude expenditures for land).—Capital expenditures cover: New structures and additions (including major alterations, capitalized repairs and improvements) to your plant (whether on contract or by your own forces); new machinery and new equipment; capitalized repairs and improvements to your existing machinery and equipment; and "used" plant and equipment acquired from others. Such expenditures during 1958 may be determined by the following computation: Additions completed during the year, plus construction-in-progress at the end of the year, minus construction-in-progress at the beginning of the year.

Item 8a. New Structures and Additions to Plant.—Report total expenditures during 1958 for new construction, major alterations, capitalized repairs, and improvements of buildings (including all new elevators, cranes, heating and ventilating equipment, essentially a part of the buildings), other fixed structures (such as blast furnaces, brick kilns, fractionating towers, shipways, and similar types of structures), and site improvements (such as roads, docks, tracks, parking lots, fences, utilities, etc.).

Item 8b. New Machinery and New Equipment.—Report total expenditures at this establishment for new production machinery and equipment and other new machinery and equipment. Include new machinery and equipment purchased for replacement purposes, as well as for additions to capacity. Include the value of improvements and capitalized repairs to machinery and equipment as well as the value of new machinery and equipment transferred from other establishments of this company or produced and used at this establishment. Include all new motors, lathes, punch presses and similar machinery and equipment for use in production, as well as all new office machines and fixtures, furniture, cafeteria and dressing room furnishings, automobiles and trucks and other similar equipment.

Item 8c. Used Plant and Used Equipment Acquired From Others.—Report total expenditures at this establishment for old or existing plant and for second-hand equipment acquired from others (including the U. S. Government).

Item 9. Quantity of Electric Energy Used During 1958.—Report all quantities of electrical energy in thousands of kilowatt-hours.

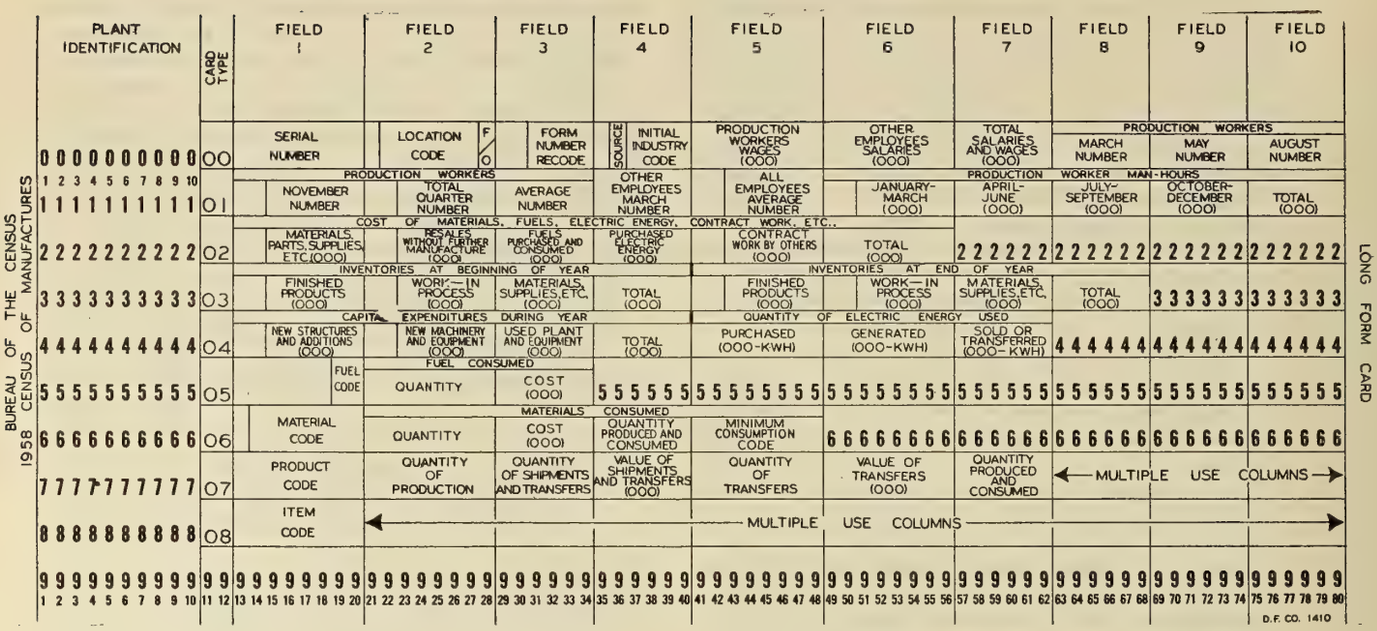
Item 9a. Purchased Electric Energy.—Enter the quantity of electric energy (in thousands of kilowatt-hours) for which the cost was reported on line 6d.

Item 9b. Generated Electric Energy.—Enter here the total quantity of electrical energy generated in this plant during 1958 although a part of such energy may have been sold or transferred.

Item 9c. Electric Energy Sold or Transferred to Other Plants.—Include here only that electrical energy which was generated in this establishment and then sold to other companies or transferred to other plants of your company.

Items 10–15.—(See instructions on form).

Item 16. Fuels Consumed During 1958.—(This item is included on selected report forms.) Report this item only if your total fuel cost reported in Item 6c is $5 thousand or more. Include all fuels purchased from other companies or transferred from other establishments of your company. Do not include fuel that was produced and used at this establishment for power or heat; for example, fuel oil produced and consumed at petroleum refineries. Include fuel used as raw materials in Item 17; for example, crude petroleum, coal used in making coke, and gas used in making carbon black. Some forms provide for a check-box on type of fuel oil consumed. "Distillate (light)" fuel oil includes Grade Nos. 1 through 4 and P. S. 100 and 200. "Residual (heavy)" fuel oil includes Grade Nos. 5 and 6 and P. S. 300 and 400. If over 90 percent of the fuel oil used was of one type, check only the principal type.



If your gas is billed in therms, convert as follows:

Supplemental Instructions for Form MC-35Q, "Industrial Furnaces and Ovens"

The following instructions supplement the "General Instructions to Manufacturers for Preparing Reports"

INSTALLATION (OR CONSTRUCTION) OF PRODUCTS OF YOUR OWN MANUFACTURE

(These instructions apply to companies engaged in installing or erecting their own manufactured products.)

Where your product is installed or erected by a labor force separate from the regular force attached to your manufacturing establishment, do not include installation costs.–The separate labor force may consist either of a distinct group of your employees not attached to your manufacturing plant, or of local labor hired by you in the field, or a combination of both of these. This labor force should be omitted from the sections on employment and payrolls (Items 3 and 4); the value of the installation services should not be included in the section on products shipped (Item 18); and, the amounts reported for cost of materials, etc. (Item 6), should be restricted to factory operations. However, include in Items 3b and 4g engineering and supervisory personnel on your regular plant payroll who may be engaged in installing or testing your products. If your records do not provide exact figures to serve as the basis for segregating these installation costs, carefully prepared estimates will be acceptable.

When your product is installed or erected by the regular labor force of your manufacturing plant, operating out of the plant itself, installation costs and the value of installation services should be included.–In installations of this type the employees will not be a separate group of workers located away from the premises of the manufacturing plant.

Include these workers engaged in installing your products in Items 3 and 4, "Payrolls and Employment 1958."

Receipts for installation services should be reported separately on line 21, Item 18.

Do not include these receipts in the value of industrial furnaces and ovens as reported on lines 1-11, Item 18.

If your records do not provide exact figures on the value of installation work, carefully prepared estimates will be acceptable.

In no case should installation costs (or the value of the service) be included in your report where the installing or erecting is performed by a separate company, whether the services of that company have been contracted for by your customer or by yourself.

Please state in the Remarks Section of this form whether you install or erect your manufactured products.–If you do such installing or erecting, you should further indicate whether or not the installation costs and value of such services are included in your report (using the above instructions as the basis for reporting).
